

Hearnes prepares for uphill battle

By BOB FICK
Associated Press Writer
JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Warren Hearnes, who ran a distant second three weeks ago in losing the Democratic U.S. Senate primary, held the nomination firmly in his grasp today as he prepared for the uphill campaign against Republican John Danforth.

The former two-term governor won the nomination over the weekend as 38 of the 60 members of the Democratic State Committee, seven more than needed, supported him to succeed the late Congressman Jerry Litton.

But his nomination was greeted with dissatisfaction from various segments of the party, as an attempt to make it unanimous was actively blocked and there were rumors of the formation of a Democratic Party for Danforth committee.

Danforth, 39, who as attorney general for the last eight years led a resurgence of the GOP in the state, said he relished the thought of head on battle with Hearnes, and the two opponents immediately took off the gloves and began sparring.

"Warren Hearnes stands for all the things that I have been fighting against since I entered public life — politics for personal gain, government by cronies, special favors for political friends, machine politics at its worst," he said in statement shortly after Hearnes won the nomination.

Hearnes called the attack unfair, challenging the cronyism charge because Danforth had hired defeated GOP state Auditor John Ashcroft two years ago and the reference to politics for personal gain because of last week's admissions by Ralston Purina Co. that it had paid bribes to foreign government officials.

Danforth's family fortune is tied to the Ralston Purina Co. but the attorney general has not been actively connected with the firm.

Hearnes said those situations will be discussed when the two candidates meet publicly on Sept. 17 at a session of the Missouri Bar in St. Louis.

"Let's see how tough he is then," Hearnes said of Danforth.

The battle for the nomination between Hearnes and state Treasurer James Spainhower, which became increasingly bitter in its final days, was touched off when Litton, 39, his family and two friends died on election night as he was stunning old-line politicians with his come-from-behind win of the nomination.

The final vote gave Litton

401,822 votes or 45.4 per cent to Hearnes' 233,544 votes or 26.4 per cent with the rest spread over eight candidates including Congressman James Symington of Ladue.

Litton, who was virtually unknown outside northwest Missouri, spent between $1.1 million and $1.2 million, according to a top campaign aide, to gain the recognition needed to hand Hearnes his first political loss in 17 campaigns.

Anti-Hearnes forces claimed the vote showed the public wanted a new face not tied to the old politics, and Litton supporters said they favored Spainhower, 48, as the man most closely representing what their candidate stood for.

But Spainhower, an ordained minister like Danforth, entered the race for committee support after Hearnes was already claiming the backing of 37 members. He claimed a secret vote on the nomination would give him a chance but his supporters lost that fight early and the treasurer appeared resigned to the outcome as he sat dejectedly in the rear of the House chamber watching the proceedings.

Some party officials believe Hearnes will not be able to overcome the stigma of a three-year federal investigation into his financial dealings that produced no charges but received statewide publicity. They believe he could hurt Democratic chances in other races and is too conservative to draw a wide base of voter support.

Norman O. Sanders, chairman of the Missourians for Litton Committee, told the state panel before the voting that the 401,000 persons voting for Litton "still want that kind of man.

You better give them that kind of candidate."

And when Hearnes won the nomination, a top Litton aide speculated there would be little active support for his nomination from the Litton camp although he did not expect the Democrats in that group to bolt the party.

"They'll support Hearnes like they would have expected Hearnes to support them," he said. "That's 'We'll support you, Warren, but we're not going to break our backs.'"

Hearnes, in his victory speech to the committee and the 400 spectators, asked for unified support of his nomination, acknowledging that he did not win it from the voters.

one who shared the race, one who traveled the length and breadth of this state in the campaign, I can and I will finish the race."

He said he recognized the disappointment of those supporting Spainhower, but added, "If you chose to walk away from here in your frustration and disappointment, without an idea of helping me, it is going to be very difficult, if not impossible, to turn back the challenge of the Republican nominee."

Spainhower, in a plea for full party support of Hearnes, said there was a large number of voters, "A majority I think, who thought I would have been a better candidate. But what is done is done and I hope those who supported me and those who supported Warren Hearnes waste not one solitary moment in thoughts of pettiness and revenge."

Since he had received the support of Litton forces, Spainhower said he would attempt to assuage them and get their active support for Hearnes.

Danforth called it "destiny that I am at last facing Warren Hearnes head on."

He said the strength of the Litton campaign was against the old politics and that the coming campaign would be a question of "old politics versus new politics."

While saying he would run a "very clean and principled" but "difficult hard, intensive, physical campaign," Danforth acknowledged Hearnes had never been charged or convicted of any crime resulting from the investigation.

Hearnes said he would run on the record he established as governor between 1965 and 1973 and.

N. Korea responds to U.S. show of force

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — A U.S. Navy task force headed by the aircraft carrier Midway approached Korea today. North Korea said the warships were bound for its waters and warned that the move would "force a conflict."

The five-ship naval force was ordered from its base in Japan as part of the U.S. military response to the ax-slaying of two U.S. Army officers by North Koreans in the Korean neutral zone last week. The Navy would not give their exact location or destination but a Japanese pilot spotted them, shadowed by a Soviet freighter, and said they could be close to the south coast of Korea today.

North Korean broadcasts said the naval operation brought the situation "closer to the brink of war." Rodong Shinmoon, the Communist party daily warned that North Korean armed forces are prepared for a "sacred war ... to annihilate the aggressors at one stroke if they dare pounce upon us."

Pyeongyang radio quoted the newspaper as "denouncing the criminal act of U.S. imperialism in sending the nuclear-powered aircraft carrier Midway into the waters of the northern half of the republic ...

"By infiltrating their warships into the waters of another country, the U.S. imperialist aggressors force a conflict on the other side," it added.

A Navy spokesman denied that the Midway — built in the 1940's — was nuclear-powered, as described by North Korea.

The 151-mile-long demilitarized zone separating North and South Korea was reported quiet, as it has been since the dispute over the pruning of a tree in the zone last Wednesday led to a free-for-all in which North Koreans hacked to death two Americans.

Thousands of South Korean workers assembled for rallies today denouncing North Korea for the attack on a United Nations Command working party that was pruning a tree in the joint security zone at Panmunjom.

Ford planning strategy

Carter begins campaign

By The Associated Press
Democratic presidential candidate Jimmy Carter prepared to outline the basic themes of his campaign in a West Coast speech today, while President Ford got ready for strategy sessions Tuesday.

Carter was in California; Ford in Colorado.

Two other top Republicans, meanwhile, figured in the weekend political news.

Ronald Reagan, who challenged Ford for the presidential nomination, said that if he had the campaign to do over again, he'd spend more time in Ohio — where he lost — and less in California — where he won an overwhelming victory.

John Connally, whose name had been included among top contenders for the Republican vice-presidential spot, reportedly turned down a job as chairman of the Republican National Committee. According to the Sunday Dallas Times Herald, the former Texas governor and onetime Democrat believes it is too late for Ford to overcome Carter's lead in the presidential polls and didn't want to be blamed for a Republican loss in November. Connally could not be reached for comment.

Carter, who says he would have had more trouble in the West if Ford had chosen Reagan instead of Sen. Robert Dole of Kansas as his running mate, scheduled a speech today to the Los Angeles Town Hall Forum and an appearance at a fund-raising party in San Francisco.

CBs, tapes stolen

Two citizens band radios, four tapes and a bottle of medicine were reported stolen, police said today.

J. D. Schaffer, 423 Shady Lane, told police a CB valued at $135 was taken from his car while it was parked at Kingsway Plaza Mall from about 4 p.m. Friday to 4:50 p.m. Saturday.

Noma Johnson, Route Three, told police, a CB valued at $100 was stolen from her car between 2:30 p.m. and 3:30 p.m. Saturday while it was parked in the Holiday Inn parking lot.

Four tapes valued at $27 were taken from a car belonging to Stanley Parker, 201 Sherrie St., between 5:50 p.m. Saturday and 1:15 a.m. Sunday while parked in the Pizza Inn parking lot, 1905 E. Malone Ave.

Delia Russell, 716 Kendall St., told police a bottle of 30 heart medicine pills were taken from her mailbox Thursday. She said the pharmacy delivered the medicine while she was asleep and when she checked the mailbox, the pills were gone.

Parents are warned

NEW MADRID--City Marshal Virgil "Flip" Dees has issued a warning that an immediate crackdown on underage drivers is being made by the police department.

Dees stated that any parent who permits an unlicensed juvenile to operate any type of motorized vehicle on public thoroughfares will be fined $25 in City Court, and the juvenile will face Juvenile Court action. In announcing the warning, Dees said the problem of underage drivers is "getting out of hand" and is creating safety hazards. He noted a recent incident in which a youngster operating a motorcycle drove out of an alley into the path of an oncoming car. The car narrowly missed striking the child, Dees said, but it could have been a tragic accident.

Public thoroughfares consist of all streets, alleys, sidewalks, school grounds and parks, Dees said, and motorized vehicles include not only automobiles but also mini-bikes, trail-bikes, motorcycles, golf carts, go-cart or riding lawn mowers.

IDI AMIN: NUMERED DAYS?

The good news from Africa is that serious efforts may finally be underway to topple from power the Ugandan dictator, President Idi Amin.

Great Britain's recent rupture of diplomatic relations with Uganda is reported to be part of an orchestrated campaign which also involves the United States and Uganda's neighbor, Kenya. The effort is described as a steady drumbeat of economic and political pressure designed to speed along a process already taking place within Uganda, where disaffection with Amin is widespread. It has been reported that he has been the target of several assassination attempts.

If reports of such a plot are true, it could not happen to one who deserves it more. Amin is a uniquely vicious ruler who runs Uganda as his personal fiefdom and regularly feeds those who displease him to the crocodiles. He is capricious, vindictively cruel, and quite possibly insane — a villain quite suitable for a James Bond movie. Should he ever gets his hands on nuclear weapons, anyone within his reach would be in deepest peril. As it is, the remaining Britons still in Uganda would seem to be the ones most in danger from Amin's irrational wrath.

A tyrant like Amin has no place in civilized society. He "governs," if such a word can be used, through fear and cunning only, within even the facade of a higher social purpose, such as the communist leaders employ to mask their own brand of tyranny over their people. His only friend seems to be the equally erratic Muammar Qaddafi of Libya — another international "bad boy."

The fall of Amin should be a great relief, not only to the people of Uganda, but to all Africa. May it come quickly.

A HARD ACT
TO FOLLOW

HAVING SEEN her performance as a member of the House Judiciary Committee when it was considering impeachment of former President Richard Nixon, almost everyone was expecting a stellar performance by Rep. Barbara Jordan of Texas when she was called upon to be one of the keynote speakers at the Democratic National Convention.

She did not disappoint them. She was in top oratorical form Monday night at Madison Square Garden. Her emphasis, inflection and enunciation seized the audience from the start and held it to the last words. But it was not just her style that attracted attention. The speech also had content.

As she was quick to note, her appearance there was in itself something new. And what she said also was something new. Unlike many keynote speakers of the past, she did not point with pride and view with alarm. She sermonized instead on the need for honesty and high levels of performance on the part of those chosen for government offices.

"Those of us who are public servants must set this example," she told an audience which surely must have been aware of the import of the statement in reference to recent scandals involving some public servants in Washington in recent months.

She admitted her party has not always been right, and that also was something new for a keynote speaker. "If we promise, we must deliver," she admonished the party. "If we propose, we must produce. If we ask for sacrifice, we must be the first to give. If we make mistakes, we must be willing to admit them." Hear, hear!

If the measure of a politician's success is the following that politician can command, Barbara Jordan showed Monday night she is a successful politician. Does anyone remember ever seeing a convention keynote speaker being brought back to the rostrum for a "curtain call" as she was?

Her performance surely will give rise to questions about her future in politics, possibly a cabinet post if Carter wins the election and perhaps a higher candidacy in the more distant future.

NO MORE CONTROLS
In its first appalled reaction to the tremendous oil price increases at the beginning of 1974, the world projected a whole array of dire financial dangers. The enormous overflow of new oil revenue—most of it to small underdeveloped countries—would derange the world's financial structure, according to these forecasts.

The rapidly mounting surpluses of the exporting countries would generate a mountain of debt that the international banking system would not carry. Or alternatively, the desert sheikdoms would use their endless wealth to buy up American business. They were anxious calculations of the period of time—only a few years, it seemed—within which those spectacular surpluses would equal the total value of all the companies listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

Americans suddenly got very apprehensive about foreign investments in this country. Would the Arabs try to take over American corporations and run them for their own national purposes? As 1974 went on, Congress ordered a careful study of the scale of investment from abroad. Now, a year and a half later, the Commerce Department has published in nine volumes, its benchmark measurement of foreign ownership in the United States. Its verdict: Foreigners hold only a small and dispersed share of the American economy; there is no need for further controls.—The Washington Post

WANTED: OUTSTATE DOCTORS

For outstate Missourians, the problem of inadequate or nonexistent physicians and the absence of minimal health care delivery service is an issue in the 1976 campaign without a proponent.

As far as we can determine, not a single candidate for a major public office in the state has addressed himself or herself to a problem that exists in varying degrees in 75 per cent of Missouri's 114 counties.

It most assuredly is time for this almost unceasing neglect to end. It may well be that candidates for every office from U.S. Senator, through Governor, and even down to the State Senate and House level, are unaware of the problem, so consistently has it been a part of the outstate Missouri scene. Indeed, in many rural communities of the state, the absence of a trained physician to treat hundreds, and sometimes several hundreds, is so commonplace that it has been overlooked.

Past elections and past sessions of the legislature have concentrated on a great many issues, ranging from state funding of new office buildings in St. Louis to special interest bills to increase salaries of virtually everyone on the public payroll. It is interesting that absolutely no attention has been paid to a problem that affects the daily lives of hundreds of thousands of outstate Missourians. Perhaps it is indicative of the lack of interest in outstate Missouri; we think a more likely explanation is that, like average citizens, the politicians have accepted inadequate medical care for outstate Missourians as a fact of life, to be endured like arthritis or a boil.

It is interesting to note, however, that public officials in at least two states have not accepted minimal and inadequate health care delivery systems as a way of life. In both Utah and North Carolina, major strides have been taken to overcome a problem that is apparently existent in virtually every state in the union. It's interesting that state officials, including medical school administrators, have been able to devise unique, but different, plans to improve physician coverage in rural areas—and that programs in both states are working exceptionally well and meeting their intended goals.

Neither Utah nor North Carolina has the advantage of Missouri in the number of medical students graduating each year within the state. Missouri has four medical schools: two operated by the University of Missouri at Columbia and Kansas City, and Washington University and St. Louis University, both privately-funded institutions. Despite this numerical superiority, Missouri is securing far fewer physicians to serve in outstate areas than either Utah or North Carolina.

The difference among the three states is obviously the difference in official and medical interest in solving the problem.

In Missouri, our officials give an inordinate amount of attention to satisfying the ever-present needs of the cities, in receiving credit for this or that project which can be undertaken within a heavily-populated area thereby gaining personal political advantage, and in the pontification against federal regulations accompanying federal funds that come into this state to support essential services.

We are engrossed in devising ways in which taxes collected throughout an entire state can be utilized to solve problems of a particular area, more often than not created by local indifference or political chicanery. We devise ways to "reorganize" our government and then spend an even longer time trying to explain why the reorganization didn't work.

Missouri can appropriate funds to redecorate official offices, increase salaries and enhance the political image of every important and not-so-important politician in Jefferson.

The only thing we can't seem to devise is a way to insure that residents in 75 per cent of this state's counties have just minimal medical care from a trained physician. That appears to boogie official minds in Missouri, even if it doesn't boogie them in Utah or North Carolina.

This problem won't go away because politicians are ignoring it. Indeed, it will get worse as the population of outstate Missouri increases and as more and more young doctors decide their future lies in the metropolitan areas.

This is a problem in search of a candidate. It deserves the best thinking that can be rallied, and it deserves the attention of every serious candidate seeking a state public office.

Thus far only the voice of the turtle has been heard in the land.

The Giant Killer:

Lad From Hawaii Spurns State Dept.'s Dentate-ists and Enrages Communist Dictator Tito

FARO, Portugal — Well, in his final days, Yugoslav dictator Marshall Tito has done something for one of the most honest of all President Nixon's men. Tito, real name Joe Broz, now 84 years old, pulled U.S. Ambassador Laurence Silberman out of undeserved obscurity and exile into which someone sent him as American envoy to Belgrade.

Larry Silberman's saga is fascinating. Not only because it proves that dentate never pays and that a bribed Communist leader such as Tito Broz never will stay bought. But also because Silberman's story involves big tricks Charles (Chuck) Colson, who ran much of the White House away back without too much consultation with Dick Nixon.

Also in this epic are former U.S. Atty. Gen. John Mitchell and Teamsters' chief Frank (Fitz) Fitzsimmons.

There are Shakespearean intrigues within plots here with these characters entering and leaving the stage. But in the end, little Larry cuts down the tough Communist goliath Tito-Broz on whom our nation spent well over $20 billion — futilely.

It all begins with Silberman, bright and with a charming wife, both young and moving up in Washington a decade or so ago. Larry is from Hawaii. A labor lawyer. Soon he's in the Labor Department. This script can begin with him as Under Secretary of Labor. He refused to cut corners for anyone. And as his intimates tell it, he didn't take orders from powerful Chuck Colson either. Chuck would call frequently from his Old Executive Office Building suite. The impression mostly was that Dick Nixon thought this or that was a fine idea. Silberman didn't. I gather mostly neither did the ex-President, who knew little of many of the calls.

At that time Colson was sort of account executive in charge of the Teamsters. Then came time for the appointment of a Secretary of Labor to replace the up-moving George Shultz. Silberman's name came up. It was fine with President Nixon, but the Teamsters kept vetoing Larry. So did Colson. He hated Silberman, who wouldn't jump through the phone on call.

Finally the post went to someone else. But Larry Silberman was told he'd be appointed to the Court of Appeals bench in the Ninth Circuit (San Francisco). For a lawyer still in his 30s this was a pink cloud dream come true. A lifetime job "near" Honolulu, his home city.

One evening at a White House reception, Dick Nixon actually congratulated Larry on the appointment. Silberman murmured something about the actual appointment not having come through yet. But the surrounding conversation drowned it out.

He never did get the federal bench. He believes that Colson, who later briefly became a national Teamsters counsel, and John Mitchell did him in. Further, Silberman also believes that Mitchell's man got the spot.

There are many who believe that Larry Silberman, an eclectic conservative, would have made the Supreme Court someday. But fate's script-writers were moving him towards other vertices. He went into private law practice. And soon President Ford unexpectedly and rather strangely appointed Silberman U. S. ambassador to Yugoslavia. He had no diplomatic experience. The State Department's Eastern desk disliked him, disdained him, discomfited him, undercut him and warned him not to meddle in diplomacy. Just push cookies. Don't get involved in the "sensitive" dealings with Marshal Josip Tito-Broz. Well, since Larry had no diplomatic experience, he became a fine diplomat.

He didn't like secret police surveillance. He didn't cotton to being bugged constantly. He didn't quite see why the U.S. should have poured billions of dollars and endless genuflections into Yugoslavia — when all we got for it was sabotage, violent constant anti-U.S. broadcasts, sharp criticism of our Middle East policy, support of the OPEC oil boycott and constant backing of the anti-American blocks in the United Nations.

Tito-Broz also is death on intellectual freedom. He imprisons his critics. His secret police has been one of the cruelest in Eastern Europe. Over a year ago, for example, Tito's political police ordered the arrest of a 46-year-old American tourist, Laszlo Toth of Denver. He was charged with photographing a sugar refinery. He was tried by one of those proletarian people's courts. He was sentenced to prison for seven years. He is a U.S. citizen.

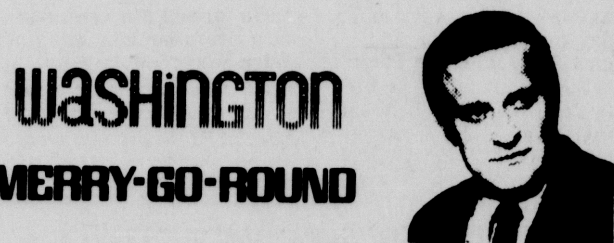

Obviously Toth had simply taken a picture of a non-classified plant. He had worked there before migrating to the U.S.

Just as obviously, Tito had him arrested and framed to be put "in stock" for eventual exchange for some Yugoslav or some other Communist bloc spy, caught red-handed working for the UN delegation or the Belgrade embassy in Washington, D.C.

Ambassador Silberman fought for Toth's liberty and forced Marshal Tito to free the American citizen. The U.S. State Department Eastern desk reprimanded the envoy for making the fight. Later Silberman charged:

"They said I was being undiplomatic for pressing the case as hard as I did. To these people (the State Department Eastern desk officials — VR) diplomacy is apparently the passive pursuit of American interest, and I don't accept that... When we get to the point where we don't care about an American citizen innocently imprisoned, then we aren't much of a country anymore."

So little Larry, still refusing to cut corners, fought Tito-Broz. The Yugoslav Communist dictator, living high in his palace and island retreat, attacked him. For one fleeting moment, at least, Larry Silberman did make us "much of a country."

Plot To Kill Kissinger Foiled

by Jack Anderson
with Les Whitten

WASHINGTON — A reported plot to assassinate Secretary of State Henry Kissinger in Costa Rica six months ago was blocked by U.S. and Costa Rican authorities four days before it was supposed to be carried out.

We have pieced together the story from secret testimony before the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee and from interviews with Cuban exiles and U.S. intelligence sources.

A Cuban terrorist named Orlando Bosch Avila, was reported to be gunning for Kissinger. The attempt on the Secretary's life was expected, according to underground reports, during his visit to Costa Rica last February.

Shortly before Kissinger's arrival, Bosch slipped into Costa Rica on a false passport. But the FBI and Secret Service had been alerted. They traced Bosch's movements and notified the Costa Rican authorities. The suspected assassin was arrested and clapped into a tiny jail cell four days before Kissinger got to town.

The plot to kill Kissinger apparently grew out of his overtures to improve relations with Cuba's Fidel Castro back in 1972.

This reportedly upset an anti-Castro terrorist band, known as Cuban Action, which Bosch headed.

We reported part of the story two years later after a lengthy investigation in Miami. In columns on Sept. 1 and Nov. 12, 1974, we warned that anti-Castro terrorists planned an "assassination... against American congressmen and businessmen who supported a... thaw." We noted that Kissinger had been in touch with Castro.

The first hint that Kissinger, himself, was one of the targets came later from Carlos Rivero Collado, son of the man elected to the presidency of Cuba in 1958. Rivero was active in the anti-Castro underground in Miami's little Havana. But he later defected to Cuba where he gave a fascinating interview.

"I have known privately since 1972," he said, "about the plan to assassinate the U.S. Secretary of State." He said the plot had taken "certain form" by 1973 and had been "actualized" by 1974.

Then in a reference to our 1974 columns, he added: "This fact which, I repeat, I've known privately, has been corroborated by the U.S. journalist Jack Anderson."

Rivero named Bosch as one of the 18 anti-Castro leaders who had conspired to kill U.S. and other leaders promoting a Cuban-American detente. Bosch already had been convicted in 1968 of shelling a Polish freighter with a bazooka while it was moored in Miami. He jumped federal parole and fled to Venezuela in 1974.

Months later, he was reported to be in Curacao, protected by Chilean gunmen. He bragged, according to the reports, of his "money, friends and protection."

Florida's Dade County Public Safety Department, because of the huge Cuban population in Miami, has excellent ties throughout Latin America. In early 1976, the county's terrorist expert, Lt. Thomas Lynch, picked up some electrifying news.

He told the Senate Subcommittee about it in secret testimony. "We received information from confidential sources," he swore, "that there was going to be an attempt on the life of Secretary of State Henry Kissinger... We passed the information on to the FBI, and they had also received the information, and we notified the Secret Service, as they have the protective duty for the Secretary of State."

The plot was linked to Kissinger's two-day stay in Costa Rica, and Bosch was picked up and questioned. He was held on a false passport charge until Kissinger was safely out of the country.

Bosch later insisted: "My only crime was entering the country with a false passport." Certainly, it was never proved in court that he hoped to knock off Kissinger. He is now at large somewhere in Latin America.

JOHNSON'S JUNKETS: Democratic presidential nominee Jimmy Carter must have Don Johnson in mind when he charges that the Republicans find cushy jobs in the bureaucracy for defeated GOP legislators.

Johnson, a former Iowa Congressman, was appointed by President Richard Nixon to head the Veterans Administration. But he was forced out of office when he proved to be a lackluster leader. So he was shuffled over to the Commerce Department, where he has been ensconced as Deputy Assistant Secretary for Domestic and International Business.

Johnson has used both his VA and Commerce posts to travel, mostly back to Iowa, where he has kept his political fences mended in the hope of once again running for office.

At the Commerce Department alone, Johnson has spent at least $7,000 on travel, $5,204 in the last year. He always goes first class, despite the fact that government regulations require coach travel for federal employees. The enterprising Johnson, however, has a ready excuse for his luxury accommodations.

"I'm a hell of a big man," he told our reporter Barbara Takei. "I'm six foot five and weigh 270 pounds." Johnson also said his bad back forced him to fly in the forward compartment. Despite his many excursions to his home state, he denied having any plans for a comeback in politics.

Playboy's advice poor on jogging

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB—An article in last March's issue of Playboy Magazine titled "Jogging Can Kill You . . . And That's Not The Half Of It," has undoubtedly shattered the psychological equilibrium of thousands of joggers and runners. A copy of the article is enclosed. It is certainly disheartening to think that I have been damaging my body for several years by jogging rather than achieving the intended effect—good health. Actually, I have never felt better in my life than I have the past several years. Jogging has been invigorating and highly beneficial psychologically and physically (or so I thought).

Is Dr. Schmidt's theory on the harmful effect of jogging valid? I see he provides no documentation of his contentions. I would very much appreciate receiving your evaluation of this article.

DEAR READER—I usually do not comment on such articles but in my opinion this one has been such a public disservice that I feel compelled to respond to your query.

Frankly I searched the article diligently to find anything I could agree with and found not one item. His claim that jogging causes varicose veins is completely contrary to known physiology. He stated that "with every thump of the foot, a column of blood several feet high pounds the veins of the legs like a battering ram." Well the good doctor needs to review his circulatory dynamics and consider facts rather than fiction.

The facts are that as you stand still there is a large column of blood that increases the pressure in the veins in the legs. But as soon as you start walking the contracting muscles squeeze the deep veins and empty them. The pressure in the veins in the legs then drops dramatically to almost nil. The superficial veins in the legs drain directly into the deep veins and also empty. Hence walking, jogging and running do not pound the veins with a column of blood but actually decrease the pressure inside the veins.

He stated that running jars the heart and suggests that it is hung like a pendulum from the large arteries inside the chest. An elementary review of anatomy will show that the heart is cushioned on the diaphragm directly over the stomach rather than swinging wildly like a pendulum inside the chest. There are no cases on record of running causing the heart to be torn from its place in the chest or in any way displaced. The running does not jar crusts out of the arteries as the article implies.

Jogging can cause some dangers, particularly if not done properly. Deaths from jogging are almost always from running too fast or overdoing it when one is not trained. This can cause a heart attack, but not from jarring crusts loose. For more information on this problem I am sending you The Health Letter number 4-2, Jogging, Exertion, Sudden Death. Others who want the details about this can send a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope with 50 cents for it. Just send your letter to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

The article also claimed that women developed sagging breasts like deflated balloons from jogging. Actually women will develop sagging if they don't use a brassiere even if only standing. The problem is not jogging. My best advice is to not let the Playboy article interfere with your good exercise habits.

The Case of the Alleged Drunk

By JACK STRAUSS, LL.B.

Betty and Bob's marriage ended up in the drink. Deciding to get a divorce, they met in a tavern to discuss a property settlement agreement, and after a while, they adjourned to a second boozery.

When all was finally agreed upon, they strolled over to the office of Bill's lawyer and their deal was signed, sealed and delivered. Later, however, Betty decided the agreement was unfair and started a court action to void it.

"I had four beers at the Dry Gulch Saloon," she told a judge, "and five more at the Last Chance Corral. And all I remember is demanding $500 in cash, and not by check before I would sign the agreement.

"Beyond that, it's all a blank. For all I remember, being totally bombed, the document I signed could have been the Declaration of Independence. Consequently, I can't be bound by it."

"While Betty may have had nine beers," responded Bill, "she knew exactly what she was doing at all times. She wanted 50 per cent of all of our property, and that's what she got. Now she wants more. Certainly, nine beers shouldn't be able to get it for her."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you set aside the agreement because Betty was "bombed"?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that a contract entered into by an intoxicated person can be set aside where the extent of the intoxication is such as to render the intoxicated person incapable, at the time the contract is entered into, of knowing what he is doing or comprehending the consequences of his act.

In this case, however, noted the judge, Betty wasn't so intoxicated as to require the agreement being voided. Not only did she remember that she had demanded $500 in cash, and not by check, before signing it, etc., she even remembered the number of beers she had and where she had them.

TOWN HOPES

New Clinic Will Attract Doctor

By PIET BENNETT

Associated Press Writer
MARCELLUS, Mich. (AP) — Residents of this Cass County farming town have dipped into their wallets to provide a $60,000 clinic they hope will bring them a doctor.

Despite some inquiries, the clinic stands empty. And hopes of finding a new doctor or two for Marcellus may never be realized.

"If I had about 2,000 doctors show up tomorrow morning and if they were the right kind of doctors, I could find jobs for all of them by tomorrow night," said John A. Doherty, executive vice president for the Michigan Health Council.

The Council has placed about 1,500 doctors and nearly 500 dentists in Michigan communities since 1958.

But Doherty estimated that right now nearly 125 Michigan towns seek doctors and nearly 2,000 physicians are needed.

Doherty said he feels sorry for Marcellus, a town of about 1,100 since that town will need "some sort of exceptional effort" to attract a new doctor.

He said a major problem for Marcellus is its distance from a hospital. "There are not many people in the United States who are interested in being a solo doctor and that far from a hospital," Doherty said.

"There's great competition. I would not say that it's an easy road," agreed Ronald R. Cripps, a Farm Bureau employee heading the Marcellus drive to find a new doctor.

Cripps said Marcellus was 13 miles from the nearest hospital, at Three Rivers. There is another hospital in Paw Paw about 14 miles away and one in Dowagiac, about 18 miles off.

Still, Marcellus fares better than some towns. It still has one doctor.

But Dr. Uriah Adams, who has practiced in Marcellus since graduation from the University of Michigan Medical School in the 1930s, is well into his 70s.

Adams, who grew up just eight miles from Marcellus, continues to practice although "he has cut down some. He takes an extra day off now," his wife reported.

But when asked if the doctor plans to retire, Mrs. Adams replied, "Oh, how can he? They just never get away from this. You don't drop everything and leave."

PEAS WITH MINT
A plentiful amount of mint is used because this recipe is designed to serve with lamb. 10-ounce package frozen tiny green peas
Butter

1/2 cup coarsely chopped fresh mint leaves
Cook the peas according to package directions, draining if there is more than about a tablespoon of liquid left. If package directions call for adding 1 tablespoon of butter during cooking, add only 1/2 tablespoon more after peas are cooked; if package directions do not call for adding butter during cooking, add 2 tablespoons after peas are cooked. Stir in the mint with the butter. Makes 4 small servings.

Cooking School

Do your cakes fall? Does your souffle suffer? Are you tired of the same old casseroles? If the answer to any of the above questions is yes, or if you would just like a chance to watch someone else cook for awhile, then come to the Southern Kitchens Cooking School at 7:30 p.m. Sept. 2 at the Sikeston High School Field House.

The school is sponsored by Progressive Farmer Magazine and The Daily Standard. In addition to the fun of the show, several valuable door prizes, donated by participating local merchants, will be given away. Each person attending will also be given a packet containing the school's recipe book, redeemable product coupons and food preparation tips. Admission to the school is by ticket only. Tickets are free and can be obtained from many local merchants who are displaying the cooking school theme in their stores.

Join us Sept. 2, and find out what's cooking.

Don't cook green vegetables with lemon juice. The acid in the juice will turn the vegetables an olive green color and they will have to cook longer than usual to become tender.

Ann Landers

Cash flow must be stopped

Dear Readers: Please do not send me any more money! In the past few weeks I have had to return over $6,500 in personal checks. Obviously, some of my readers don't understand a few things. Let me explain.

Several weeks ago, Mr. X wrote to say his conscience was bothering him because he had cheated on his income tax a few years ago and he wanted to make it right. I praised the man and suggested that he send an anonymous check to the Internal Revenue Service.

That column produced a rash of letters and checks made out to Ann Landers. (The first was for $4,000) I returned it with the explanation that I never accept money from readers. I further explained that checks made out to Ann Landers would have to be declared by me as income and MY IRS man would want to know a little something about the money. Moreover, the name of the sender appears on the checks and any IRS man who wanted to get nosy could blow the whistle on my well-intentioned readers.

Sorry, folks, but I cannot act as a conduit for Born-Again readers. If you want to right and old wrong please have a cashier's check made out at any bank and sent it ANONYMOUSLY to the Internal Revenue Service at 1111 Constitution Ave. N. W., Washington, D. C. 20224. Simply attach a note saying it is "conscience money." And bless you all for wanting to come clean.

Dear Ann Landers: I hope you won't think I'm crazy but I have a problem and I don't know what it is. I'm not exactly miserable but I'm not happy either. I'm blue a lot of the time, and lonely, although I have a good husband, and nice kids. There are times when I think I need a good swift kick in the pants.

I never seem to get my work done. I never look the way I'd like to. I can never come with the right thing to say — until two days later. My cakes fall and my bread refuses to rise. As the saying goes, I always seem to be "a day late and a dollar short."

I feel like a fool writing to you because here I am asking for help and I don't know what I need help WITH. What can you suggest, Ann? — Today's Kook

Dear T.K.: Have I got a book for you! It is called "The Trouble Book." The author is Dr. Eugene Kennedy ($8.95, Thomas More Press, 180 N. Wabash, Chicago, Ill. 60601). Please take special note of the chapters, "Nobody Has It All Together," "Feeling Bad" and "Boredom." You will look at yourself in a different light after you've read this book. It's excellent!

Dear Ann Landers: What do you think about young children calling parents by their first names?

My husband's family doesn't approve. My family is more casual. We grew up calling our parents Alma and Ed.

Now I'm pregnant and the question has come up. My husband wants to be called Dad. I prefer to be called Marie. What do you say? — Split Vote

Dear Split: If your husband wants to be called Dad, so be it. If you prefer to be called Marie — O.K.

I vote for Mother or Dad. There's something special about those words. They let your children know you're parents, not pals.

Confused about what's right

FDA recommends controls for Darvon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal regulators want to clamp strict controls on distribution of Darvon, the nation's third most-prescribed drug. Researchers have warned that abuse of the painkiller can cause dependence or death.

The Food and Drug Administration has recommended imposing limits on how often patients can refill prescriptions for Darvon, an FDA spokesman said Thursday.

Last year, U.S. physicians wrote 16.4 million new or refill prescriptions for Darvon, a trade name for propoxyphene. They also wrote about 1.6 million more prescriptions for similar products.

The FDA's stand comes three years after the agency rejected a call by the Drug Enforcement Administration (DEA) to put Darvon and other painkillers containing propoxyphene under restrictions.

The FDA reconsidered its stand after a study this year implicated propoxyphene in thousands of overdose deaths over a period of years.

FDA Commissioner Alexander M. Schmidt now feels tighter control on the drug is "clearly warranted," according to the FDA spokesman.

The DEA will move to include propoxyphene in Section 4 of the Controlled Substances Act, which would bar druggists from refilling a prescription more than five times in a six-month period. It would also require suppliers and pharmacists to control their inventories.

Darvon is made by Eli Lilly & Co. of Indianapolis. A spokesman said the firm would have no immediate comment on the FDA recommendation.

The Prayer

"The desert shall rejoice, and blossom as the rose... they shall see the glory of the Lord, and the excellency of our God." Isaiah 35:1-2

PRAYER: Father, grant that in our search for greater victories we do not lose sight of the joy of living every day triumphantly. Amen.

New contraceptive method would make women immune to sperm

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — A biochemist at the University of Nebraska Medical Center is studying the possibility of a new contraceptive method for women-making them immune to male sperm.

Dr. James McClurg, a research instructor in the Department of Obstetrics and Gynecology, already has induced infertility in female test animals by giving them a chemical which induces sperm antibodies.

McClurg, not a physician, says he is optimistic about coming up with a vaccine that will render women infertile on a temporary basis.

However, it will be years before such a product might be available to the general public "just because of all the restrictions and protocols" involved in the introduction of a substance into the human body.

McClurg, who has been working on the project for about 1½ years, came upon his findings in a reverse manner. The findings stem from his research work in treating married couples who can't have children. His research project is being funded by a branch of the State Department which is looking for an effective and easily-deliverable contraceptive for underdeveloped nations.

In the past decade, it has been found that for an unknown reason, some females develop an immune reaction to sperm," said Dr. McClurg.

As with other immune reactions, McClurg said the body forms antibodies to combat the substance which causes the reaction.

"As a result of these antibodies, a woman will not become pregnant because they will incapacitate the sperm before it can fertilize the egg," McClurg said, noting that about 2 per cent of all married women may develop such antibodies.

In an effort to find out if a woman has the antibodies in question, McClurg said the workers in his department will perform a series of tests.

A woman's blood serum and cervical mucus are mixed with sperm. If the antibodies are present, the sperm will become inactive or die, said McClurg.

Saints split to force third game

CAPE GIRARDEAU — An 8 p.m. game Tuesday night between the Sikeston Saints and Cape Girardeau Capahas will finally decide the 1976 Bi State League championship. The two teams opened the title series by splitting a doubleheader Sunday at Cape, the Caps winning the first 11-7 and the Saints taking the nightcap 7-2. Jim Sauter and Grant Dambach held the hot bats for the Saints. Doug Best and Rick Wieser did most of the Cape hitting damage.

Since Sunday's twinbill was at Capaha Park, the deciding game will be at V.F.W. Stadium in Sikeston. Neither team has decided on a starting pitcher, although it is likely that Trae Hastings, who worked only six innings Sunday, may try to come back for the Caps.

Dambach had two doubles and Sauter pounded a homer and a single, but it wasn't enough in the first game, which was the Saints worst defensive outing of the year. Four first inning errors killed the good hurling of Bob Blankenship. Cape struck for three tallies in the opening inning. Then, in the third, Roger Williams led off with a homer to right and the Capahas got to the tough luck Blankenship for four seeing-eye safeties in a row to add four more markers.

The Saints scored in the first on Sauter's sacrifice fly. Dambach doubled Bill Schatzley in for the Saints in the third to make it 3-2, but the four-run Cape inning followed and it was never close the rest of the way. The Saints had a flurry of activity in the ninth, scoring four times—two on Dambach's double and two more on Dave McClarty's two-out single.

The second game saw Cape starter Randy Johnson coasting along with a 2-0 one-hitter going into the sixth when the roof fell in. Rick Eisenbach got a one-out single and Schatzley walked. Eisenbach scored on one of Johnson's six wild pitches during the game and Dambach singled Schatzley in from second. That tied the score at 2-2. Then Sauter crossed up some Capaha strategy by belting a three-run roundtripper to highlight a five-run inning and give Saints hurler Don Miller all the support he needed. The hosts had walked Dambach with a runner on second just previous to Sauter's second blast of the day.

Miller, whose arm gave him a bit of trouble during the early innings, breezed through the last six innings, allowing only a seventh inning single to Butch Smiley. Although fanning a season-low of just two, the hard throwing righty finished with a five hitter and his fifth win.

Aces win Charleston tourney; All-Stars take third place

The Sikeston Aces got two-hit pitching from tournament Most Valuable Player Mike Hurley Saturday night as they ripped Bernie 12-2 to win the first place trophy in the Charleston Invitational Little League Tournament's 11-12 year-old division.

In the consolation game, the Sikeston All-Stars won third place by defeating New Madrid 5-3.

The Aces, who defeated New Madrid and East Prairie earlier in the tournament, scored five runs in the second inning, their biggest offensive output of the game, which was shortened to four innings by the ten-run rule.

The Aces finally captured a first-place trophy after finishing third in the Scott City tournament and second in the Sikeston Invitational last week.

In the consolation game, the All-Stars' Steve Green tossed a three-hitter as they defeated New Madrid. St. Mary was also tough for the New Madrid team through three innings, but the All-Stars finally broke through against him in the fourth to score two runs and then added three more in the fifth.

New Madrid had jumped ahead 1-0 in the first on Cooper's leadoff homer. In the third, Sullenger blasted one over the fence with a man on off Green to make it 3-0. But Sikeston battled back in the fourth, with singles by Bert Perry and Shawn McClain highlighting a two-run inning. In the fifth, Nick Garner's two-run doubled scored Perry and Green to put Sikeston ahead. Todd Baker had scored early in the inning on Perry's single.

Massengale wins Hartford Open

WETHERSFIELD, Conn. (AP) — Take a tip from your brother, mix it with trust in God and then concentrate on your golf game.

That formula brought Rik Massengale, a soft-spoken Texan, the $42,000 top prize in the $210,000 Sammy Davis Jr. Greater Hartford Open golf tournament Sunday in steam-bath-like conditions.

Massengale, who leads a Bible study group that meets regularly on the pro golf tour, fashioned a strong five-under-par 31 on the back nine for a final-round 66 as he held off a host of challengers on the Wethersfield Country Club's 6,598-yard course, one of the shortest on the tour.

The handsome, mustachioed 29-year-old, younger brother of former touring pro Don Massengale, said that just a few weeks ago at the Pleasant Valley Classic in Massachusetts he told a friend, "I really didn't feel like I could win." He said he was putting well but didn't think his game was good enough for a victory.

Then his brother, Rik's boyhood idol who is now a club pro, worked with him at the PGA tournament last week to change his grip.

"That's all I changed. That's just golf. That's how quick it can change," Massengale said after his second victory in six years as a pro.

As he accepted his check he thanked God for the victory and later explained, "I'm a Christian first. I'm a golfer second."

Massengale either led or shared the lead from the start of the four-day event, finishing with an 18-under-par 266 in 95-degree, humid weather.

Geiberger, whose 64 was the final round's lowest, raised his earnings to $182,184 this year. Snead, with a final three-under-par 68, boosted his winnings to $144,882.

Lee Trevino, who shared the lead midway through the round, fell back and then closed with a birdie on the 18th for a 67. He stood alone in fourth at 271.

Arnold Palmer, never in contention but a favorite of thousands who followed him religiously, equalled his best round of the year, a 66, and finished with a six-under-par 278.

FANTASY...

You've seen the well-known drain cleaners in action on TV. They eliminate large globs that have suddenly stopped your drain by lodging in your trap and return plumbing to "like-new" working condition without damage to the system.

Don't pump... clean out... dig up... SEE US!

FACT...

The fact is... almost no stoppage occurs in the trap of your drain. Instead, it's an accumulation of filth throughout your drain system. It continues to restrict the flow of waste until even small masses can't flow through. Chemicals only flow along the bottom of the line and are ineffective against the real cause of the problem.

Bio-Clean can and does clean the entire interior of the drain system, eliminating all organic accumulation causing your drain problem.

BIO-CLEAN
...so safe you even use it in your garbage disposal.

McGlothen blanks Braves 8-0

Hernandez homers as Birds win

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Keith Hernandez says the Atlanta Braves' Frank LaCorte has the stuff to become a winning pitcher. Unexpressed, but presumably positive, were LaCorte's views on Hernandez' hitting following an 8-0 Braves loss Sunday to the St. Louis Cardinals. "He has a nasty breaking ball, a hard breaking ball," Hernandez said after hammering a delivery by LaCorte, 1-7, for a three-run homer. "He struck me out on a breaking ball," the Cardinals first baseman added. "The second time around I was looking for the fast ball and got it."

Hernandez' homer, his second of the season, broke up a budding pitching duel between LaCorte and St. Louis right-hander Lynn McGlothen, 11-11, in the fourth inning. And afterward, in the wake of an 11-hit Cards attack, the 22-year-old infielder voice optimism for his team's future. "This club is young," said Hernandez, whose teammates include 20-year-old shortstop Garry Templeton and 23-year-old third baseman Hector Cruz. "It's got a future," he maintained. "Now that the young guys are playing every day it's beginning to show a difference." McGlothen, in recording his third shutout of the year, surrendered five singles and struck out a career high 10 while walking only one in 90-degree heat. "I felt a little wilted out there," he acknowledged, "but after I got two outs in the ninth inning I was going after that last hitter." After fanning nine through eight innings, McGlothen capped the St. Louis offense with a bases-loaded double off Pablo Torrealba, fifth Atlanta pitcher, for the game's final three runs. "The pressure was off," he said modestly. "If the score had been close, they probably would have had me laying down a bunt."

Royals rally to beat Brewers 7-4

MILWAUKEE (AP) — "You give them half a chance, and they'll beat you," said Milwaukee Brewer Manager Alex Grammas after his team gave Kansas City a chance and the Royals beat them 7-4 Sunday. "They're not 9 1/2 games out in front (of the American League West) by luck. That's the mark of a good club. You give them an opportunity to beat you, and they will." The Brewers led 4-3 going into the ninth inning, and Brewer relief pitcher Danny Frisella got former Wisconsin All-State football player Tom Poquette of Eau Claire to fly out. But then Frisella walked the bottom of the Royals' batting order: Jamie Quirk, Bob Stinson and Frank White. Ruppert Jones hit a grounder off Bill Castro which Milwaukee first baseman George Scott dived to catch as the tying run scored and Jones reached first safely. Then Amos Otis singled across two more runs. Kansas City completed the scoring when shortstop Robin Yount's throw went wide as he attempted to complete an inning-ending double play. "That's the first time I've ever done that—walked three in a row—since I've been in the big leagues," said Frisella, who entered the game with a club leading 1.00 earned run average and had preserved the only Brewer victory in the fourgame series Thursday night. "That's why people on bomb squads don't live long."

Milwaukee took a 3-0 lead in the first inning on five hits—singles by Von Joshua, Scott, Mike Hegan, Darrell Porter and Sixto Lezcano. But, after the initial inning, Kansas City pitcher Doug Bird allowed only two hits until Joshua homered in the seventh to put the Brewers out front, 4-1. "My rhythm was off in the first," Bird said. "But I felt good. I was throwing OK and I knew I could do it." The Royals tallied their first run in the second on singles by Poquette and Buck Martinez and a double by White. They added two runs in the eighth off Milwaukee starter Jim Slaton when Otis and George Brett singled and John Mayberry doubled. AMERICAN KANSAS CITY MILWAUKEE

Reggie Pierson (27) of the Detroit Lions has nowhere to go after being brought down by an unidentified Dallas Cowboy player. Closing in on the play for the Cowboys are Mike Hegman (58) and Tom Henderson (56). The action occurred on a kickoff return during the Cowboys' 36-16 victory Saturday night at Memphis. ## Vikings beat Bengals on late pass

By HOWARD SMITH AP Sports Writer Fran Tarkenton has been through it before but it was all new to Sammie White. "We've been working very hard with these young receivers during training camp," said Tarkenton. "At some point kids have got to make a play. Sammie made a very big play." White, a rookie from Grambling, hauled in a Tarkenton pass in the corner of the end zone with just 24 seconds left Sunday to give Minnesota a 23-17 victory over Cincinnati in a National Football League preseason game. "Man, oh, man," said White when asked what his thoughts were as he watched the ball float towards him, "I'd better get this one."

The winning toss, which covered 32 yards, came with the teams tied 17-17 and facing an overtime period in humid, 91-degree weather in Bloomington. Tarkenton threw two touchdown passes in the game and set up a third with a 52-yard pass to Tom Gerredine. The Bengals, who lost for the first time in four outings, had rallied to tie it at 17-all with just 1:16 left when John Reeves hit Billy Brooks with an 11-yard TD pass. Bobbie Clark rammed over from the one-yard line for the other Cincinnati touchdown. The victory evened the Vikings' exhibition record at 2-2. In Saturday night games, Los Angeles downed Oakland 23-14;

San Francisco edged San Diego 17-16; Miami topped Tampa Bay 28-21; New England defeated Atlanta 28-17; Kansas City got by Washington 23-20; Dallas dumped Detroit 36-16; St. Louis beat Chicago 20-14; the New York Jets defeated Houston 27-24, and Denver rocked Seattle 52-7. On Friday night Buffalo buried Green Bay 37-0, New Orleans defeated Baltimore 26-20 in overtime and the New York Giants upset Pittsburgh 17-0. Cleveland plays at Philadelphia Monday night. John Cappelletti ran for one touchdown and caught a pass from James Harris for another as undefeated Los Angeles overcame Carl Garrett's 96-yard TD run on the opening kickoff to beat Oakland.

Onofrio happy with Tigers

By The Associated Press Bud Moore was unhappy with the Kansas Jayhawks' first football scrimmage while Missouri Coach Al Onofrio was pleased with his team's scrimmage and Kansas State Coach Ellis Rainsberger offered mixed reviews. "Obviously we're not ready to play a football game," Moore said after the Jayhawks scrimmage Saturday. "You could see that today. I saw quite a few mistakes. And we have only two weeks to correct them." Moore said he was unhappy with the play of both the defensive secondary and the kicking game. "I thought our offensive units executed pretty well for a first scrimmage," Onofrio said after the Missouri scrimmage. Missouri Quarterback Steve Pisarkiewicz, who led the Big Eight in passing last year, connected on 17 of 21 passes according to unofficial statistics kept on the scrimmage. Mike Woodfin, a sophomore from Topeka, starred in the Kansas State scrimmage running for 90 yards on 14 carries. "Over-all our team timing wasn't exceptionally good," Rainsberger said, "and our condition will need to improve." Nebraska put on the pads for the first time Sunday and Coach Tom Osborne said the team was in good shape.

Cards stop Bears win streak

CHICAGO (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals were supposed to be suffering from jet lag what with their having played earlier in the week in Tokyo, but there was no indication of it as they clipped the Chicago Bears' winning streak 20-14 Saturday night. "I didn't notice any jet lag on the Cardinals' part," said Bear Coach Jack Pardee, whose team suffered its first loss in four exhibition starts. "If they were tired, it was from running up and down the field," said Pardee. "I was proud of the way we came back in the fourth quarter and had a chance to win the game. But those Cardinals have a heckuva offense. They gain 400 yards against everyone, even Oakland." The Cardinals didn't gain 400 yards against the Bears, but they managed 336 total yards to 290 for the Bears. Jim Otis and Steve Jones scored touchdowns for the Cardinals. Walter Payton and Tom Donchez scored touchdowns for the Bears. The difference was a pair of field goals by Jim Bakken from 24 yards and 40 yards.

Still the Bears were never out of the running and in the closing minutes they drove from their own 25-yard line down to the St. Louis 17 before Roland Harper fumbled away their final chance. The Cardinals showed a little more of quarterback Jim Hart and running back Terry Metcalf than they had in previous games and the two had a big hand in setting up Otis' first-period touchdown. Hart completed five of 10 passes for 77 yards while substitute Bill Donckers completed three of seven for 33 yards. Metcalf carried six times for 55 yards while Jones did most of the work with 17 rushes for 67 yards.

Quarterback Bob Avellini wasn't as sharp as he had been in the Bears' previous three games and completed only five of 12 for 55 yards with two interceptions. Virgil Carter completed five of seven for 66 yards and directed the team to its second touchdown and the final drive which ended with Harper's fumble. Brian Baschnagel, the rookie from Ohio State, returned four kickoffs for 149 yards including runbacks of 27 and 53 yards to launch both Bear touchdown drives. St. Louis Coach Don Coryell was pleased with his team's

Discuss petition drive

BENTON — A campaign to get 1,101 signatures on petitions to form an ambulance district in Scott County will get underway shortly, the County Court decided Thursday.

J.A. Chronister of Chaffee, who appeared before the court to discuss the matter, said it is hoped the proposal can be put on the ballot for a spring election.

Should the issue pass, taxes up to 10 cents per $100 assessed valuation could be raised.

The court spent a portion of the day inspecting roads and ditches, and took particular note of a road near the farm of Jerome Schlitt, who resides northwest of Oran. The road, the court was told, is under water a good deal of the time, making it impossible for school buses to pass.

Hearnes prepares for uphill battle

By BOB FICK
Associated Press Writer
JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Warren Hearnes, who ran a distant second three weeks ago in losing the Democratic U.S. Senate primary, held the nomination firmly in his grasp today as he prepared for the uphill campaign against Republican John Danforth.

The former two-term governor won the nomination over the weekend as 38 of the 60 members of the Democratic State Committee, seven more than needed, supported him to succeed the late Congressman Jerry Litton.

But his nomination was greeted with dissatisfaction from various segments of the party, as an attempt to make it unanimous was actively blocked and there were rumors of the formation of a Democratic committee.

Danforth, 39, who as attorney general for the last eight years led a resurgence of the GOP in the state, said he relished the thought of head on battle with Hearnes, and the two opponents immediately took off the gloves and began sparring.

"Warren Hearnes stands for all the things that I have been fighting against since I entered public life — politics for personal gain, government by cronies, special favors for political friends, machine politics at its worst," he said in statement shortly after Hearnes won the nomination.

Hearnes called the attack unfair, challenging the cynicism charge because Danforth had hired defeated GOP state Auditor John Ashcroft two years ago and the reference to politics for personal gain because of last week's admissions by Ralston Purina Co. that it had paid bribes to foreign government officials.

Danforth's family fortune is tied to the Ralston Purina Co. but the attorney general has not been actively connected with the firm.

Hearnes said those situations will be discussed when the two candidates meet publicly on Sept. 17 at a session of the Missouri Bar in St. Louis.

"Let's see how tough he is then," Hearnes said of Danforth.

The battle for the nomination between Hearnes and state Treasurer James Spainhower, which became increasingly bitter in its final days, was touched off when Litton, 39, his family and two friends died on election night as he was stunning old-line politicians with his come-from-behind win of the nomination.

The final vote gave Litton

401,822 votes or 45.4 per cent to Hearnes' 233,544 votes or 26.4 per cent with the rest spread over eight candidates including Congressman James Symington of Ladue.

Litton, who was virtually unknown outside northwest Missouri, spent between $1.1 million and $1.2 million, according to a top campaign aide, to gain the recognition needed to hand Hearnes his first political loss in 17 campaigns.

Anti-Hearnes forces claimed the vote showed the public wanted a new face not tied to the old politics, and Litton supporters said they favored Spainhower, 48, as the man most closely representing what their candidate stood for.

But Spainhower, an ordained minister like Danforth, entered the race for committee support after Hearnes was already claiming the backing of 37 members. He claimed a secret vote on the nomination would give him a chance but his supporters lost that fight early and the treasurer appeared resigned to the outcome as he sat dejectedly in the rear of the House chamber watching the proceedings.

Some party officials believe Hearnes will not be able to overcome the stigma of a three-year federal investigation into his financial dealings that produced no charges but received statewide publicity. They believe he could hurt Democratic chances in other races and is too conservative to draw a wide base of voter support.

Norman O. Sanders, chairman of the Missourians for Litton Committee, told the state panel before the voting that the 401,000 persons voting for Litton "still want that kind of man."

You better give them that kind of candidate."

And when Hearnes won the nomination, a top Litton aide speculated there would be little active support for his nomination from the Litton camp although he did not expect the Democrats in that group to bolt the party.

"They'll support Hearnes like they would have expected Hearnes to support them," he said. "That's 'We'll support you, Warren, but we're not going to break our backs.'"

Hearnes, in his victory speech to the committee and the 400 spectators, asked for unified support of his nomination, acknowledging that he did not win it from the voters.

"Congressman Litton ran a tough campaign," he said. "He won the medal fate never let him wear. I cannot wear his medal. I didn't win it...But as one who shared the race, one who traveled the length and breadth of this state in the campaign, I can and I will finish the race."

He said he recognized the disappointment of those supporting Spainhower, but added, "If you chose to walk away from here in your frustration and disappointment, without an idea of helping me, it is going to be very difficult, if not impossible, to turn back the challenge of the Republican nominee."

Spainhower, in a plea for full party support of Hearnes, said there was a large number of voters, "A majority I think, who thought I would have been a better candidate. But what is done is done and I hope those who supported me and those who supported Warren Hearnes waste not one solitary moment in thoughts of pettiness and revenge."

Since he had received the support of Litton forces, Spainhower said he would attempt to assuage them and get their active support for Hearnes.

Danforth called it "destiny that I am at last facing Warren Hearnes head on."

He said the strength of the Litton campaign was against the old politics and that the coming campaign would be a question of "old politics versus new politics."

While saying he would run a "very clean and principled" but "difficult hard, intensive, physical campaign," Danforth acknowledged Hearnes had never been charged or convicted of any crime resulting from the investigation.

Hearnes said he would run on the record he established as governor between 1965 and 1973 and.

N. Korea responds to U.S. show of force

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — A U.S. Navy task force headed by the aircraft carrier Midway approached Korea today. North Korea said the warships were bound for its waters and warned that the move would "force a conflict."

The five-ship naval force was ordered from its base in Japan as part of the U.S. military response to the ax-slaying of two U.S. Army officers by North Koreans in the Korean neutral zone last week. The Navy would not give their exact location or destination but a Japanese pilot spotted them, shadowed by a Soviet freighter, and said they could be close to the south coast of Korea today.

North Korean broadcasts said the naval operation brought the situation "closer to the brink of war." Rodong Shinmoon, the Communist party daily warned that North Korean armed forces are prepared for a "sacred war ... to annihilate the aggressors at one stroke if they dare pounce upon us."

Pyongyang radio quoted the newspaper as "denouncing the criminal act of U.S. imperialism in sending the nuclear-powered aircraft carrier Midway into the waters of the northern half of the republic ...

"By infiltrating their warships into the waters of another country, the U.S. imperialist aggressors force a conflict on the other side..." it added.

A Navy spokesman denied that the Midway — built in the 1940's — was nuclear-powered, as described by North Korea.

The 151-mile-long demilitarized zone separating North and South Korea was reported quiet, as it has been since the dispute over the pruning of a tree in the zone last Wednesday led to a free-for-all in which North Koreans hacked to death two Americans.

Thousands of South Korean workers assembled for rallies today denouncing North Korea for the attack on a United Nations Command working party that was pruning a tree in the joint security zone at Panmunjom.

Ford planning strategy

Carter begins campaign

By The Associated Press
Democratic presidential candidate Jimmy Carter prepared to outline the basic themes of his campaign in a West Coast speech today, while President Ford got ready for strategy sessions Tuesday.

Carter was in California; Ford in Colorado.

Two other top Republicans, meanwhile, figured in the weekend political news.

Ronald Reagan, who challenged Ford for the presidential nomination, said that if he had the campaign to do over again, he'd spend more time in Ohio — where he lost — and less in California — where he won an overwhelming victory.

John Connally, whose name had been included among top contenders for the Republican vice-presidential spot, reportedly turned down a job as chairman of the Republican National Committee. According to the Sunday Dallas Times Herald, the former Texas governor and onetime Democrat believes it is too late for Ford to overcome Carter's lead in the presidential polls and didn't want to be blamed for a Republican loss in November. Connally could not be reached for comment.

Carter, who says he would have had more trouble in the West if Ford had chosen Reagan instead of Sen. Robert Dole of Kansas as his running mate, scheduled a speech today to the Los Angeles Town Hall Forum and an appearance at a fundraising party in San Francisco.

Ruby, who had been released from a hospital three or four days ago, was confined to bed in another room at the time of the shooting.

Withrow died from a center chest wound inflicted with a 20-gauge single shot, lever action shotgun.

The body is at Jimmy Osburn Funeral Home in Wardell, where funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Parents are warned

NEW MADRID--City Marshal Virgil "Flip" Dees has issued a warning that an immediate crackdown on underage drivers is being made by the police department.

Dees stated that any parent who permits an unlicensed juvenile to operate any type of motorized vehicle on public thoroughfares will be fined $25 in the juvenile court, and the juvenile will face Juvenile Court action. In announcing the warning, Dees said the problem of underage drivers is "getting out of hand" and is creating safety hazards. He noted a recent incident in which a youngster operating a motorcycle drove out of an alley into the path of an oncoming car. The car narrowly missed striking the child, Dees said, but it could have been a tragic accident.

Public thoroughfares consist of all streets, alleys, sidewalks, school grounds and parks, Dees said, and motorized vehicles include not only automobiles but also mini-bikes, trail-bikes, motorcycles, golf carts, go-cart or riding lawn mowers.

A two-vehicle accident at 10:45 a.m. Sunday, three miles north of Hayti on I-55, resulted in serious injuries to a New Orleans man.

The accident occurred when the driver of a southbound car, Raymond Paul Mittleider, 21, of New Orleans, fell asleep while driving and struck from behind a southbound car, driven by Violet Mae James, 64, of Cape Girardeau.

Mittleider suffered serious injuries and was taken to Pemiscot County Memorial Hospital in Hayti.

A pedestrian received moderate injuries in an accident at 10:25 a.m. Sunday 10 miles south of Sikeston on I-55.

IDI AMIN: NUMBERED DAYS?

The good news from Africa is that serious efforts may finally be underway to topple from power the Ugandan dictator, President Idi Amin.

Great Britain's recent rupture of diplomatic relations with Uganda is reported to be part of an orchestrated campaign which also involves the United States and Uganda's neighbor, Kenya. The effort is described as a steady drumbeat of economic and political pressure designed to speed along a process already taking place within Uganda, where disaffection with Amin is widespread. It has been reported that he has been the target of several assassination attempts.

If reports of such a plot are true, it could not happen to one who deserves it more. Amin is a uniquely vicious ruler who runs Uganda as his personal fiefdom and regularly feeds those who displease him to the crocodiles. He is capricious, vindictively cruel, and quite possibly insane — a villain quite suitable for a James Bond movie. Should he ever gets his hands on nuclear weapons, anyone within his reach would be in deepest peril. As it is, the remaining Britons still in Uganda would seem to be the ones most in danger from Amin's irrational wrath.

A tyrant like Amin has no place in civilized society. He "governs," if such a word can be used, through fear and cunning only, within even the facade of a higher social purpose, such as the communist leaders employ to mask their own brand of tyranny over their people. His only friend seems to be the equally erratic Muammar Qaddafi of Libya — another international "bad boy."

The fall of Amin should be a great relief, not only to the people of Uganda, but to all Africa. May it come quickly.

The final question on your exam is to write a short essay on why more people last week watched "Mary Hartman, Mary Hartman" from Fernwood than "Gerry Ford, Gerry Ford," from Kansas City.

A HARD ACT
TO FOLLOW
HAVING SEEN her performance as a member of the House Judiciary Committee when it was considering impeachment of former President Richard Nixon, almost everyone was expecting a stellar performance by Rep. Barbara Jordan of Texas when she was called upon to be one of the keynote speakers at the Democratic National Convention.

She did not disappoint them. She was in top oratorical form Monday night at Madison Square Garden. Her emphasis, inflection and enunciation seized the audience from the start and held it to the last words. But it was not just her style that attracted attention. The speech also had content.

As she was quick to note, her appearance there was in itself something new. And what she said also was something new. Unlike many keynote speakers of the past, she did not point with pride and view with alarm. She sermonized instead on the need for honesty and high levels of performance on the part of those chosen for government offices.

"Those of us who are public servants must set this example," she told an audience which surely must have been aware of the import of the statement in reference to recent scandals involving some public servants in Washington in recent months.

She admitted her party has not always been right, and that also was something new for a keynote speaker. "If we promise, we must deliver," she admonished the party. "If we propose, we must produce. If we ask for sacrifice, we must be the first to give. If we make mistakes, we must be willing to admit them." Hear, hear!

If the measure of a politician's success is the following that politician can command, Barbara Jordan showed Monday night she is a successful politician. Does anyone remember ever seeing a convention keynote speaker being brought back to the rostrum for a "curtain call" as she was?

Her performance surely will give rise to questions about her future in politics, possibly a cabinet post if Carter wins the election and perhaps a higher candidacy in the more distant future.

NO MORE CONTROLS
In its first appalled reaction to the tremendous oil price increases at the beginning of 1974, the world projected a whole array of dire financial dangers.

The enormous overflow of new oil revenue—most of it to small underdeveloped countries—would derange the world's financial structure, according to these forecasts.

The rapidly mounting surpluses of the exporting countries would generate a mountain of debt that the international banking system would not carry. Or alternatively, the desert sheikdoms would use their endless wealth to buy up American business. They were anxious calculations of the period of time—only a few years, it seemed—within which those spectacular surpluses would equal the total value of all the companies listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

Americans suddenly got very apprehensive about foreign investments in this country. Would the Arabs try to take over American corporations and run them for their own national purposes? As 1974 went on, Congress ordered a careful study of the scale of investment from abroad. Now, a year and a half later, the Commerce Department has published in nine volumes, its benchmark measurement of foreign ownership in the United States. Its verdict: Foreigners hold only a small and dispersed share of the American economy; there is no need for further controls.—The Washington Post

WANTED: OUTSTATE DOCTORS
For outstate Missourians, the problem of inadequate or non-existent physicians and the absence of minimal health care delivery service is an issue in the 1976 campaign without a proponent.

As far as we can determine, not a single candidate for a major public office in the state has addressed himself or herself to a problem that exists in varying degrees in 75 per cent of Missouri's 114 counties.

It most assuredly is time for this almost unceasing neglect to end.

It may well be that candidates for every office from U.S. Senator, through Governor, and even down to the State Senate and House level, are unaware of the problem, so consistently has it been a part of the outstate Missouri communities of the state, the absence of a trained physician to treat hundreds, and sometimes several hundreds, is so commonplace that it has been overlooked.

Past elections and past sessions of the legislature have concentrated on a great many issues, ranging from state funding of new office buildings in St. Louis to special interest bills to increase salaries of virtually everyone on the public payroll. It is interesting that absolutely no attention has been paid to a problem that affects the daily lives of hundreds of thousands of outstate Missourians. Perhaps it is indicative of the lack of interest in outstate Missouri; we think a more likely explanation is that, like average citizens, the politicians have accepted inadequate medical care for outstate Missourians as a fact of life, to be endured like arthritis or a boil.

It is interesting to note, however, that public officials in at least two states have not accepted minimal and inadequate health care delivery systems as a way of life. In both Utah and North Carolina, major strides have been taken to overcome a problem that is apparently existent in virtually every state in the union. It's interesting that state officials, including medical school administrators, have been able to devise unique, but different, plans to improve physician coverage in rural areas—and that programs in both states are working exceptionally well and meeting their intended goals.

Neither Utah nor North Carolina has the advantage of Missouri in the number of medical students graduating each year within the state. Missouri has four medical schools: two operated by the University of Missouri at Columbia and Kansas City, and Washington University and St. Louis University, both privately-funded institutions. Despite this numerical superiority, Missouri is securing far fewer physicians to serve in outstate areas than either Utah or North Carolina.

The difference among the three states is obviously the difference in official and medical interest in solving the problem.

In Missouri, our officials give an inordinate amount of attention to satisfying the ever-present needs of the cities, in receiving credit for this or that project which can be undertaken within a heavily-populated area thereby gaining personal political advantage, and in the pontification against federal regulations accompanying federal funds that come into this state to support essential services.

We are engrossed in devising ways in which taxes collected throughout an entire state can be utilized to solve problems of a particular area, more often than not created by local indifference or political chicanery. We devise ways to "reorganize" our government and then spend an even longer time trying to explain why the reorganization didn't work.

Missouri can appropriate funds to redecorate official offices, increase salaries and enhance the political image of every important and not-so-important politician in Jefferson. The only thing we can't seem to devise is a way to insure that residents in 75 per cent of this state's counties have just minimal medical care from a trained physician. That appears to boggle official minds in Missouri, even if it doesn't boggle them in Utah or North Carolina.

This problem won't go away because politicians are ignoring it. Indeed, it will get worse as the population of outstate Missouri increases and as more and more young doctors decide their future lies in the metropolitan areas.

This is a problem in search of a candidate. It deserves the best thinking that can be rallied, and it deserves the attention of every serious candidate seeking a state public office.

Thus far only the voice of the turtle has been heard in the land.

The Giant Killer:
Lad From Hawaii Spurns State Dept.'s Dentate-ists and Enrages Communist Dictator Tito

—FARO, Portugal — Well, in his final days, Yugoslav dictator Marshall Tito has done something for one of the most honest of all President Nixon's men. Tito, real name Joe Broz, now 84 years old, pulled U.S. Ambassador Laurence Silberman out of undeserved obscurity and exile into which someone sent him as American envoy to Belgrade.

Larry Silberman's saga is fascinating. Not only because it proves that dentate never pays and that a bribed Communist leader such as Tito Broz never will stay bought. But also because Silberman's story involves big tricks Charles (Chuck) Colson, who ran much of the White House away back without too much consultation with Dick Nixon.

Also in this epic are former U.S. Atty. Gen. John Mitchell and Teamsters' chief Frank (Fitz) Fitzsimmons.

There are Shakespearean intrigues within plots here with these characters entering and leaving the stage. But in the end, little Larry cuts down the tough Communist goliath Tito-Broz on whom our nation spent well over $20 billion — futilely.

It all begins with Silberman, bright and with a charming wife, both young and moving in Washington a decade or so ago. Larry is from Hawaii. A labor lawyer. Soon he's in the Labor Department. This script can begin with him as Under Secretary of Labor. He refused to cut corners for anyone. And as his intimates tell it, he didn't take orders from powerful Chuck Colson either. Chuck would call frequently from his Old Executive Office Building suite. The impression mostly was that Dick Nixon thought this or that was a fine idea. Silberman didn't. I gather mostly neither did the ex-President, who knew little of many of the calls.

At that time Colson was sort of account executive in charge of the Teamsters. Then came time for the appointment of a Secretary of Labor to replace the up-moving George Shultz. Silberman's name came up. It was fine with President Nixon, but the Teamsters kept vetoing Larry. So did Colson. He hated Silberman, who wouldn't jump through the phone on call.

Finally the post went to someone else. But Larry Silberman was told he'd be appointed to the Court of Appeals bench in the Ninth Circuit (San Francisco). For a lawyer still in his 30s this was a pink cloud dream come true. A lifetime job "near" Honolulu, his home city.

One evening at a White House reception, Dick Nixon actually congratulated Larry on the appointment. Silberman murmured something about the actual appointment not having come through yet. But the surrounding conversation drowned it out.

He never did get the federal bench. He believes that Colson, who later briefly became a national Teamsters counsel, and John Mitchell did him in. Further, Silberman also believes that Mitchell's man got the spot.

There are many who believe that Larry Silberman, an eclectic conservative, would have made the Supreme Court someday. But fate's script-writers were moving him towards other verities. He went into private law practice. And soon President Ford unexpectedly and rather strangely appointed Silberman U.S. ambassador to Yugoslavia. He had no diplomatic experience. The State Department's Eastern desk disliked him, disdained him, discomfited him, undercut him and warned him not to meddle in diplomacy. Just push cookies. Don't get involved in the "sensitive" dealings with Marshal Josip Tito-Broz. Well, since Larry had no diplomatic experience, he became a fine diplomat.

He didn't like secret police surveillance. He didn't cotton to being bugged constantly. He didn't quite see why the U.S. should have poured billions of dollars and endless gneflections into Yugoslavia — when all we got for it was sabotage, violent constant anti-U.S. broadcasts, sharp criticism of our Middle East policy, support of the OPEC oil boycott and constant backing of the anti-American blocks in the United Nations.

Tito-Broz also is death on intellectual freedom. He imprisons his critics. His secret police has been one of the cruelest in Eastern Europe. Over a year ago, for example, Tito's political police ordered the arrest of a 46-year-old American tourist, Laszlo Toth of Denver. He was charged with photographing a sugar refinery. He was tried by one of those proletarian people's courts. He was sentenced to prison for seven years. He is a U.S. citizen.

Obviously Toth had simply taken a picture of a non-classified plant. He had worked there before migrating to the U.S.

Just as obviously, Tito had him arrested and framed to be put "in stock" for eventual exchange for some Yugoslav or some other Communist bloc spy, caught red-handed working for the UN delegation or the Belgrade embassy in Washington, D.C.

Ambassador Silberman forced for Toth's liberty and fought Marshal Tito to free the American citizen. The U.S. State Department Eastern desk reprimanded the envoy for making the fight. Later Silberman charged:

"They said I was being undiplomatic for pressing the case as hard as I did. To these people (the State Department Eastern desk officials — VR) diplomacy is apparently the passive pursuit of American interest, and I don't accept that... When we get to the point where we don't care about an American citizen innocently imprisoned, then we aren't much of a country anymore."

So little Larry, still refusing to cut corners, fought Tito-Broz. The Yugoslav Communist dictator, living high in his palace and island retreat, attacked him. For one fleeting moment, at least, Larry Silberman did make us "much of a country."

WASHINGTON
MERRY-GO-ROUND*Plot To Kill Kissinger Foiledby Jack Anderson
with Les Whitten

WASHINGTON — A reported plot to assassinate Secretary of State Henry Kissinger in Costa Rica six months ago was blocked by U.S. and Costa Rican authorities four days before it was supposed to be carried out.

We have pieced together the story from secret testimony before the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee and from interviews with Cuban exiles and U.S. intelligence sources.

A Cuban terrorist named Orlando Bosch Avila, was reported to be gunning for Kissinger. The attempt on the Secretary's life was expected, according to underground reports, during his visit to Costa Rica last February.

Shortly before Kissinger's arrival, Bosch slipped into Costa Rica on a false passport. But the FBI and Secret Service had been alerted. They traced Bosch's movements and notified the Costa Rican authorities. The suspected assassin was arrested and clapped into a tiny jail cell four days before Kissinger got to town.

The plot to kill Kissinger apparently grew out of his overtures to improve relations with Cuba's Fidel Castro back in 1972.

This reportedly upset an anti-Castro terrorist band, known as Cuban Action, which Bosch headed.

We reported part of the story two years later after a lengthy investigation in Miami. In columns on Sept. 1 and Nov. 12, 1974, we warned that anti-Castro terrorists planned an "assassination" against American congressmen and businessmen who supported a "thaw." We noted that Kissinger had been in touch with Castro.

The first hint that Kissinger, himself, was one of the targets came later from Carlos Rivero Collado, son of the man elected to the presidency of Cuba in 1958. Rivero was active in the anti-Castro underground in Miami's little Havana. But he later redefected to Cuba where he gave a fascinating interview.

"I have known privately since 1972," he said, "about the plan to assassinate the U.S. Secretary of State." He said the plot had taken "certain form" by 1973 and had been "actualized" by 1974.

Then in a reference to our 1974 columns, he added: "This fact which, I repeat, I've known privately, has been corroborated by the U.S. journalist Jack Anderson."

Rivero named Bosch as one of the 18 anti-Castro leaders who had conspired to kill U.S. and other leaders promoting a Cuban-American detente. Bosch already had been convicted in 1968 of shelling a Polish freighter with a bazooka while it was moored in Miami. He jumped federal parole and fled to Venezuela in 1974.

Months later, he was reported to be in Curacao, protected by Chilean gunmen. He bragged, according to the reports, of his "money, friends and protection."

Florida's Dade County Public Safety Department, because of the huge Cuban population in Miami, has excellent ties throughout Latin America. In early 1976, the county's terrorist expert, Lt. Thomas Lynch, picked up some electrifying news.

He told the Senate Subcommittee about it in secret testimony. "We received information from confidential sources," he swore, "that there was going to be an attempt on the life of Secretary of State Henry Kissinger... We passed the information on to the FBI, and they had also received the information, and we notified the Secret Service, as they have the protective duty for the Secretary of State."

The plot was linked to Kissinger's two-day stay in Costa Rica, and Bosch was picked up and questioned. He was held on a false passport charge until Kissinger was safely out of the country.

Bosch later insisted: "My only crime was entering the country with a false passport." Certainly, it was never proved in court that he was up to knock off Kissinger. He is now at large somewhere in Latin America.

JOHNSON'S JUNKETS: Democratic presidential nominee Jimmy Carter must have Don Johnson in mind when he charges that the Republicans find cushy jobs in the bureaucracy for defeated GOP legislators.

Johnson, a former Iowa Congressman, was appointed by President Richard Nixon to head the Veterans Administration. But he was forced out of office when he proved to be a lackluster leader. So he was shuffled over to the Commerce Department, where he has been ensconced as Deputy Assistant Secretary for Domestic and International Business.

Johnson has used both his VA and Commerce posts to travel, mostly back to Iowa, where he has kept his political fences mended in the hope of once again running for office.

At the Commerce Department alone, Johnson has spent at least $7,000 on travel, $5,204 in the last year. He always goes first class, despite the fact that government regulations require coach travel for federal employees. The enterprising Johnson, however, has a ready excuse for his luxury accommodations.

"I'm a hell of a big man," he told our reporter Barbara Takei. "I'm six foot five and weigh 270 pounds." Johnson also said his bad back forced him to fly in the forward compartment. Despite his many excursions to his home state, he denied having any plans for a comeback in politics.

Dr. Lamb

Playboy's advice poor on jogging

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB—An article in last March's issue of Playboy Magazine titled "Jogging Can Kill You . . . And That's Not The Half Of It," has undoubtedly shattered the psychological equilibrium of thousands of joggers and runners. A copy of the article is enclosed. It is certainly disheartening to think that I have been damaging my body for several years by jogging rather than achieving the intended effect—good health. Actually, I have never felt better in my life than I have the past several years. Jogging has been invigorating and highly beneficial psychologically and physically (or so I thought).

Is Dr. Schmidt's theory on the harmful effect of jogging valid? I see he provides no documentation of his contentions. I would very much appreciate receiving your evaluation of this article.

DEAR READER—I usually do not comment on such articles but in my opinion this one has been such a public disservice that I feel compelled to respond to your query.

Frankly I searched the article diligently to find anything I could agree with and found not one item. His claim that jogging causes varicose veins is completely contrary to known physiology. He stated that "with every thump of the foot, a column of blood several feet high pounds the veins of the legs like a battering ram." Well the good doctor needs to review his circulatory dynamics and consider facts rather than fiction.

The facts are that as you stand still there is a large column of blood that increases the pressure in the veins in the legs. But as soon as you start walking the contracting muscles squeeze the deep veins and empty them. The pressure in the veins in the legs then drops dramatically to almost nil. The superficial veins in the legs drain directly into the deep veins and also empty. Hence walking, jogging and running do not pound the veins with a column of blood but actually decrease the pressure inside the veins.

He stated that running jars the heart and suggests that it is hurt like a pendulum from the large arteries inside the chest. An elementary review of anatomy will show that the heart is cushioned on the diaphragm directly over the stomach rather than swinging wildly like a pendulum inside the chest. There are no cases on record of running causing the heart to be torn from its place in the chest or in any way displaced. The running does not jar crusts out of the arteries as the article implies.

Jogging can cause some dangers, particularly if not done properly. Deaths from jogging are almost always from running too fast or overdoing it when one is not trained. This can cause a heart attack, but not from jarring crusts loose. For more information on this problem I am sending you The Health Letter number 4-2, Jogging, Exertion, Sudden Death. Others who want the details about this can send a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope with 50 cents for it. Just send your letter to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

The article also claimed that women developed sagging breasts like deflated balloons from jogging. Actually women will develop sagging if they don't use a brassiere even if only standing. The problem is not jogging. My best advice is to not let the Playboy article interfere with your good exercise habits.

What's the law

The Case of the Alleged Drunk

By JACK STRAUSS, LL.B.

Betty and Bob's marriage ended up in the drink. Deciding to get a divorce, they met in a tavern to discuss a property settlement agreement, and after a while, they adjourned to a second boozery.

When all was finally agreed upon, they strolled over to the office of Bill's lawyer and their deal was signed, sealed and delivered. Later, however, Betty decided the agreement was unfair and started a court action to void it.

"I had four beers at the Dry Gulch Saloon," she told a judge, "and five more at the Last Chance Corral. And all I remember is demanding $500 in cash, and not by check before I would sign the agreement.

"Beyond that, it's all a blank. For all I remember, being totally bombed, the document I signed could have been the Declaration of Independence. Consequently, I can't be bound by it."

"While Betty may have had nine beers," responded Bill, "she knew exactly what she was doing at all times. She wanted 50 per cent of all of our property, and that's what she got. Now she wants more. Certainly, nine beers shouldn't be able to get it for her."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you set aside the agreement because Betty was "bombed"?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that a contract entered into by an intoxicated person can be set aside where the extent of the intoxication is such as to render the intoxicated person incapable, at the time the contract is entered into, of knowing what he is doing or comprehending the consequences of his act.

In this case, however, noted the judge, Betty wasn't so intoxicated as to require the agreement be voided. Not only did she remember that she had demanded $500 in cash, and not by check, before signing it, etc., she even remembered the number of beers she had and where she had them.

Town Hopes

New Clinic Will Attract Doctor

By PIET BENNETT
Associated Press Writer

MARCELLUS, Mich. (AP) — Residents of this Cass County farming town have dipped into their wallets to provide a $60,000 clinic they hope will bring them a doctor.

Despite some inquiries, the clinic stands empty. And hopes of finding a new doctor or two for Marcellus may never be realized.

"If I had about 2,000 doctors show up tomorrow morning and if they were the right kind of doctors, I could find jobs for all of them by tomorrow night," said John A. Doherty, executive vice president for the Michigan Health Council.

The Council has placed about 1,500 doctors and nearly 500 dentists in Michigan communities since 1958.

But Doherty estimated that right now nearly 125 Michigan towns seek doctors and nearly 2,000 physicians are needed.

Doherty said he feels sorry for Marcellus, a town of about 1,100 since that town will need "some sort of exceptional effort" to attract a new doctor.

He said a major problem for Marcellus is its distance from a hospital. "There are not many people in the United States who are interested in being a solo doctor and that far from a hospital," Doherty said.

"There's great competition. I would not say that it's an easy road," agreed Ronald R. Cripps, a Farm Bureau employee heading the Marcellus drive to find a new doctor.

Cripps said Marcellus was 13 miles from the nearest hospital, at Three Rivers. There is another hospital in Paw Paw about 14 miles away and one in Dowagiac, about 18 miles off.

Still, Marcellus fares better than some towns. It still has one doctor.

But Dr. Uriah Adams, who has practiced in Marcellus since graduation from the University of Michigan Medical School in the 1930s, is well into his 70s.

PEAS WITH MINT
A plentiful amount of mint is used because this recipe is designed to serve with lamb.

10-ounce package frozen tiny green peas
Butter
½ cup coarsely chopped fresh mint leaves

Cook the peas according to package directions, draining if there is more than about a tablespoon of liquid left. If package directions call for adding 1 tablespoon of butter during cooking, add only 1 tablespoon more after peas are cooked; if package directions do not call for adding butter during cooking, add 2 tablespoons after peas are cooked. Stir in the mint with the butter. Makes 4 small servings.

Cooking School

Do your cakes fall? Does your soufflé suffer? Are you tired of the same old casseroles? If the answer to any of the above questions is yes, or if you would just like a chance to watch someone else cook for awhile, then come to the Southern Kitchens Cooking School at 7:30 p.m. Sept. 2 at the Sikeston High School Field House.

The school is sponsored by Progressive Farmer Magazine and The Daily Standard. In addition to the fun of the show, several valuable door prizes, donated by participating local merchants, will be given away. Each person attending will also be given a packet containing the school's recipe book, redeemable product coupons and food preparation tips.

Admission to the school is by ticket only. Tickets are free and can be obtained from many local merchants who are displaying the cooking school theme in their stores.

Join us Sept. 2, and find out what's cooking.

Don't cook green vegetables with lemon juice. The acid in the lemon will turn the vegetables an olive green color and they will have to cook longer than usual to become tender.

Cash flow must be stopped

Dear Readers: Please do not send me any more money! In the past few weeks I have had to return over $6,500 in personal checks. Obviously, some of my readers don't understand a few things. Let me explain.

Several weeks ago, Mr. X wrote to say his conscience was bothering him because he had cheated on his income tax a few years ago and he wanted to make it right. I praised the man and suggested that he send an anonymous check to the Internal Revenue Service.

That column produced a rash of letters and checks made out to Ann Landers. (The first was for $4,000) I returned it with the explanation that I never accept money from readers. I further explained that checks made out to Ann Landers would have to be declared by me as income and MY IRS man would want to know a little something about the money. Moreover, the name of the sender appears on the checks and any IRS man who wanted to get nosy could blow the whistle on my well-intentioned readers.

Sorry, folks, but I cannot act as a conduit for Born-Again readers. If you want to right and old wrong please have a cashiers' check made out at any bank and sent it ANONYMOUSLY to the Internal Revenue Service at 1111 Constitution Ave. N. W., Washington, D. C. 20224. Simply attach a note saying it is "conscience money." And bless you all for wanting to come clean.

Dear Ann Landers: I hope you won't think I'm crazy but I have a problem and I don't know what it is. I'm not exactly miserable but I'm not happy either. I'm blue a lot of the time, and lonely, although I have a good husband, and nice kids. There are times when I think I need a good swift kick in the pants.

I never seem to get my work done. I never look the way I'd like to. I can never come with the right thing to say — until two days later. My cakes fall and my bread refuses to rise. As the saying goes, I always seem to be "a day late and a dollar short."

I feel like a fool writing to you because here I am asking for help and I don't know what I need help WITH. What can you suggest, Ann? — Today's Kook

Dear T.K.: Have I got a book for you! It is called "The Trouble Book." The author is Dr. Eugene Kennedy ($8.95, Thomas More Press, 180 N. Wabash, Chicago, Ill. 60601). Please take special note of the chapters, "Nobody Has It All Together," "Feeling Bad" and "Boredom." You will look at yourself in a different light after you've read this book. It's excellent!

Dear Ann Landers: What do you think about young children calling parents by their first names?

My husband's family doesn't approve. My family is more casual. We grew up calling our parents Alma and Ed.

Now I'm pregnant and the question has come up. My husband wants to be called Dad. I prefer to be called Marie. What do you say? — Split Vote

Dear Split: If your husband wants to be called Dad, so be it! If you prefer to be called Marie — O.K.

I vote for Mother or Dad. There's something special about those words. They let your children know you're parents, not pals.

FDA recommends controls for Darvon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal regulators want to clamp strict controls on distribution of Darvon, the nation's third most-prescribed drug. Researchers have warned that abuse of the painkiller can cause dependence or death.

The Food and Drug Administration has recommended imposing limits on how often patients can refill prescriptions for Darvon, an FDA spokesman said Thursday.

Last year, U.S. physicians wrote 16.4 million new or refill prescriptions for Darvon, a trade name for propoxyphene. They also wrote about 1.6 million more prescriptions for similar products.

The FDA's stand comes three years after the agency rejected a call by the Drug Enforcement Administration (DEA) to put Darvon and other painkillers containing propoxyphene under restrictions.

The FDA reconsidered its stand after a study this year implicated propoxyphene in thousands of overdose death over a period of years.

FDA Commissioner Alexander M. Schmidt now feels tighter control on the drug is "clearly warranted," according to the FDA spokesman.

The DEA will move to include propoxyphene in Section 4 of the Controlled Substances Act, which would bar druggists from refilling a prescription more than five times in a six-month period. It would also require suppliers and pharmacists to control their inventories.

Darvon is made by Eli Lilly & Co. of Indianapolis. A spokesman said the firm would have no immediate comment on the FDA recommendation.

The Prayer

"The desert shall rejoice, and blossom as the rose... they shall see the glory of the Lord, and the excellency of our God." Isaiah 35:1-2)

PRAYER: Father, grant that in our search for greater victories we do not lose sight of the joy of living every day triumphantly. Amen.

New contraceptive method would make women immune to sperm

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — A biochemist at the University of Nebraska Medical Center is studying the possibility of a new contraceptive method for women-making them immune to male sperm.

Dr. James McClurg, a research instructor in the Department of Obstetrics and Gynecology, already has induced infertility in female test animals by giving them a chemical which induces sperm antibodies.

McClurg, not a physician, says he is optimistic about coming up with a vaccine that will render women infertile on a temporary basis.

However, it will be years before such a product might be available to the general public "just because of all the restrictions and protocols" involved in the introduction of a substance into the human body.

McClurg, who has been working on the project for about 1½ years, came upon his findings in a reverse manner. The findings stem from his research work in treating married couples who can't have children. His research project is being funded by a branch of the State Department which is looking for an effective and easily-deliverable contraceptive for underdeveloped nations.

In the past decade, it has been found that for an unknown reason, some females develop an immune reaction to sperm," said Dr. McClurg.

As with other immune reactions, McClurg said the body forms antibodies to combat the substance which causes the reaction.

"As a result of these antibodies, a woman will not become pregnant because they will incapacitate the sperm before it can fertilize the egg," McClurg said, noting that about 2 per cent of all married women may develop such antibodies.

In an effort to find out if a woman has the antibodies in question, McClurg said the workers in his department will perform a series of tests.

A woman's blood serum and cervical mucus are mixed with sperm. If the antibodies are present, the sperm will become inactive or die, said McClurg.

Saints split to force third game

CAPE GIRARDEAU — An 8 p.m. game Tuesday night between the Sikeston Saints and Cape Girardeau Capahas will finally decide the 1976 Bi State League championship. The two teams opened the title series by splitting a doubleheader Sunday at Cape, the Caps winning the first 11-7 and the Saints taking the nightcap 7-2. Jim Sauter and Grant Dambach held the hot bats for the Saints. Doug Best and Rick Wieser did most of the Cape hitting damage.

Since Sunday's twinbill was at Capaha Park, the deciding game will be at V.F.W. Stadium in Sikeston. Neither team has decided on a starting pitcher, although it is likely that Trae Hastings, who worked only six innings Sunday, may try to come back for the Caps.

Dambach had two doubles and Sauter pounded a homer and a single, but it wasn't enough in the first game, which was the Saints worst defensive outing of the year. Four first inning errors killed the good hurling of Bob Blankenship. Cape struck for three tallies in the opening inning. Then, in the third, Roger Williams led off with a homer to right and the Capahas got to the tough luck Blankenship for four seeing-eye safeties in a row to add four more markers.

The Saints scored in the first on Sauter's sacrifice fly. Dambach doubled Bill Schatzley in for the Saints in the third to make it 3-2, but the four-run Cape inning followed and it was never close the rest of the way. The Saints had a flurry of activity in the ninth, scoring four times—two on Dambach's double and two more on Dave McClarty's two-out single.

The second game saw Cape starter Randy Johnson coasting along with a 2-0 one-hitter going into the sixth when the roof fell in. Rick Eisenbach got a one-out single and Schatzley walked. Eisenbach scored on one of Johnson's six wild pitches during the game and Dambach singled Schatzley in from second. That tied the score at 2-2. Then Sauter crossed up some Capaha strategy by belting a three-run roundtripper to highlight a five-run inning and give Saints hurler Don Miller all the support he needed. The hosts had walked Dambach with a runner on second just previous to Sauter's second blast of the day.

Miller, whose arm gave him a bit of trouble during the early innings, breezed through the last six innings, allowing only a seventh inning single to Butch Smiley. Although fanning a season-low of just two, the hard throwing righty finished with a five hitter and his fifth win.

Aces win Charleston tourney; All-Stars take third place

The Sikeston Aces got two-hit pitching from tournament Most Valuable Player Mike Hurley Saturday night as they ripped Bernie 12-2 to win the first place trophy in the Charleston Invitational Little League Tournament's 11-12 year-old division.

In the consolation game, the Sikeston All-Stars won third place by defeating New Madrid 5-3.

The Aces, who defeated New Madrid and East Prairie earlier in the tournament, scored five runs in the second inning, their biggest offensive output of the game, which was shortened to four innings by the ten-run rule.

The Aces finally captured a first-place trophy after finishing third in the Scott City tournament and second in the Sikeston Invitational last week.

In the consolation game, the All-Stars' Steve Green tossed a three-hitter as they defeated New Madrid. St. Mary was also tough for the New Madrid team through three innings, but the All-Stars finally broke through against him in the fourth to score two runs and then added three more in the fifth.

New Madrid had jumped ahead 1-0 in the first on Cooper's leadoff homer. In the third, Sullenger blasted one over the fence with a man on off Green to make it 3-0. But Sikeston battled back in the fourth, with singles by Bert Perry and Shawn McClain highlighting a two-run inning. In the fifth, Nick Garner's two-run doubled scored Perry and Green to put Sikeston ahead. Todd Baker had scored early in the inning on Perry's single.

Massengale wins Hartford Open

WETHERSFIELD, Conn. (AP) — Take a tip from your brother, mix it with trust in God and then concentrate on your golf game.

That formula brought Rik Massengale, a soft-spoken Texan, the $42,000 top prize in the $210,000 Sammy Davis Jr. Greater Hartford Open golf tournament Sunday in steam-bath-like conditions.

Massengale, who leads a Bible study group that meets regularly on the pro golf tour, fashioned a strong five-under-par 31 on the back nine for a final-round 66 as he held off a host of challengers on the Wethersfield Country Club's 6,598-yard course, one of the shortest on the tour.

The handsome, mustachioed 29-year-old, younger brother of former touring pro Don Massengale, said that just a few weeks ago at the Pleasant Valley Classic in Massachusetts he told a friend, "I really didn't feel like I could win." He said he was putting well but didn't think his game was good enough for a victory.

Then his brother, Rik's boyhood idol who is now a club pro, worked with him at the PGA tournament last week to change his grip.

"That's all I changed. That's just golf. That's how quick it can change," Massengale said after his second victory in six years as a pro.

As he accepted his check he thanked God for the victory and later explained, "I'm a Christian first. I'm a golfer second."

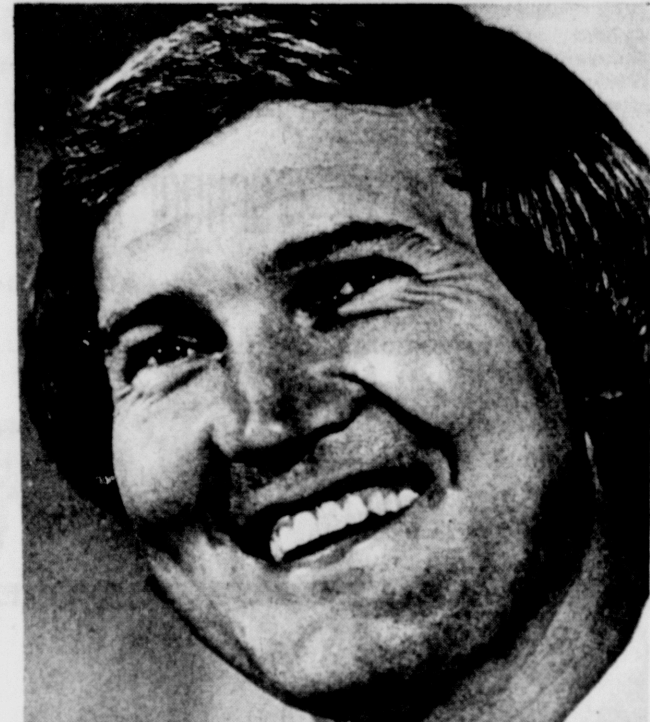

Massengale either led or shared the lead from the start of the four-day event, finishing with an 18-under-par 266 in 95-degree, humid weather.

Geiberger, whose 64 was the final round's lowest, raised his earnings to $182,184 this year. Snead, with a final three-under-par 68, boosted his winnings to $144,882.

Lee Trevino, who shared the lead midway through the round, fell back and then closed with a birdie on the 18th for a 67. He stood alone in fourth at 271.

Arnold Palmer, never in contention but a favorite of thousands who followed him religiously, equalled his best round of the year, a 66, and finished with a six-under-par 278.

FANTASY...

You've seen the well-known drain cleaners in action on TV. They eliminate large globs that have suddenly stopped your drain by lodging in your trap and return plumbing to "like-new" working condition without damage to the system.

FACT...

The fact is...almost no stoppage occurs in the trap of your drain. Instead, it's an accumulation of filth throughout your drain system. It continues to restrict the flow of waste until even small masses can't flow through. Chemicals only flow along the bottom of the line and are ineffective against the real cause of the problem.

Bio-Clean can and does clean the entire interior of the drain system, eliminating all organic accumulation causing your drain problem.

McGlothen blanks Braves 8-0

Hernandez homers as Birds win

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Keith Hernandez says the Atlanta Braves' Frank LaCorte has the stuff to become a winning pitcher.

Unexpressed, but presumably positive, were LaCorte's views on Hernandez' hitting following an 8-0 Braves loss Sunday to the St. Louis Cardinals.

"He has a nasty breaking ball, a hard breaking ball," Hernandez said after hammering a delivery by LaCorte, 1-7, for a three-run homer.

"He struck me out on a breaking ball," the Cards first baseman added. "The second time around I was looking for the fast ball and got it."

Hernandez' homer, his second of the season, broke up a budding pitching duel between LaCorte and St. Louis right-hander Lynn McGlothen, 11-11, in the fourth inning.

And afterward, in the wake of an 11-hit Cards attack, the 22-year-old infielder voice optimism for his team's future.

"This club is young," said Hernandez, whose teammates include 20-year-old shortstop Garry Templeton and 23-year-old third baseman Hector Cruz.

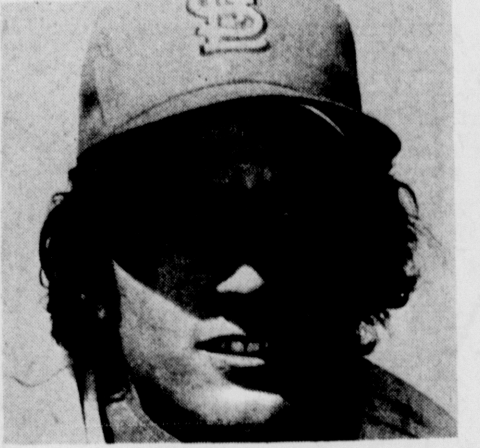

"It's got a future," he maintained. "Now that the young guys are playing every day it's beginning to show a difference."

McGlothen, in recording his third shutout of the year, surrendered five singles and struck out a career high 10 while walking only one in 90-degree heat. "I felt a little wilted out there," he acknowledged, "but after I got two outs in the ninth inning I was going after that last hitter."

After fanning nine through eight innings, McGlothen capped the St. Louis offense with a bases-loaded double off Pablo Torrealba, fifth Atlanta pitcher, for the game's final three runs.

"The pressure was off," he said modestly. "If the score had been close, they probably would have had me laying down a bunt."

Royals rally to beat Brewers 7-4

MILWAUKEE (AP) — "You give them half a chance, and they'll beat you," said Milwaukee Brewer Manager Alex Grammas after his team gave Kansas City a chance and the Royals beat them 7-4 Sunday.

"They're not 9 1/2 games out in front (of the American League West) by luck. That's the mark of a good club. You give them an opportunity to beat you, and they will."

The Brewers led 4-3 going into the ninth inning, and Brewer relief pitcher Danny Frisella got former Wisconsin All-State football player Tom Poquette of Eau Claire to fly out. But then Frisella walked the bottom of the Royals' batting order: Jamie Quirk, Bob Stinson and Frank White.

Ruppert Jones hit a grounder off Bill Castro which Milwaukee first basemen George Scott dived to catch as the tying run scored and Jones reached first safely. Then Amos Otis singled across two more runs. Kansas City completed the scoring when shortstop Robin Yount's throw went wide as he attempted to complete an inning-ending double play.

"That's the first time I've ever done that—walked three in a row—since I've been in the big leagues," said Frisella, who entered the game with a club leading 1.89 earned run average and had preserved the only Brewer victory in the fourgame series Thursday night. "That's why people on bomb squads don't live long."

Milwaukee took a 3-0 lead in the first inning on five hits—singles by Von Joshua, Scott, Mike Hegan, Darrell Porter and Sixto Lezcano.

But, after the initial inning, Kansas City pitcher Doug Bird allowed only two hits until Joshua homered in the seventh to put the Brewers out front, 4-1.

"My rhythm was off in the first," Bird said. "But I felt good. I was throwing OK and I knew I could do it."

The Royals tallied their first run in the second on singles by Poquette and Buck Martinez and a double by White. They added two runs in the eighth off Milwaukee starter Jim Slaton when Otis and George Brett singled and John Mayberry doubled.

Vikings beat Bengals on late pass

By HOWARD SMITH
AP Sports Writer

Frank Tarkenton has been through it before but it was all new to Sammie White.

"We've been working very hard with these young receivers during training camp," said Tarkenton. "At some point kids have got to make a play. Sammie made a very big play."

White, a rookie from Grambling, hauled in a Tarkenton pass in the corner of the end zone with just 24 seconds left Sunday to give Minnesota a 23-17 victory over Cincinnati in a National Football League preseason game.

"Man, oh, man," said White when asked what his thoughts were as he watched the ball float towards him. "I'd better get this one."

How did he feel hauling in the game-winning catch?

"I just didn't know what to say or do," said the fleet rookie. "My mind was blank. But I've always had the confidence I could make the big play."

The winning toss, which covered 32 yards, came with the teams tied 17-17 and facing an overtime period in humid, 91-degree weather in Bloomington.

Tarkenton threw two touchdown passes in the game and set up a third with a 52-yard pass to Tom Gerredine.

The Bengals, who lost for the first time in four outings, had rallied to tie it at 17-17 with just 1:16 left when John Reeves hit Billy Brooks with an 11-yard TD pass. Boobie Clark rammed over from the one-yard line for the other Cincinnati touchdown.

The victory evened the Vikings' exhibition record at 2-2.

In Saturday night games, Los Angeles downed Oakland 23-14;

San Francisco edged San Diego 17-16; Miami topped Tampa Bay 28-21; New England defeated Atlanta 28-17; Kansas City got by Washington 23-20; Dallas dumped Detroit 36-16; St. Louis beat Chicago 20-14; the New York Jets defeated Houston 27-24, and Denver rocked Seattle 52-7.

On Friday night Buffalo buried Green Bay 37-0, New Orleans defeated Baltimore 26-20 in overtime and the New York Giants upset Pittsburgh 17-0.

Cleveland plays at Philadelphia Monday night.

John Cappelletti ran for one touchdown and caught a pass from James Harris for another as undefeated Los Angeles overcame Carl Garrett's 96-yard TD run on the opening kickoff to beat Oakland.

Onofrio happy with Tigers

By The Associated Press

Bud Moore was unhappy with the Kansas Jayhawks' first football scrimmage while Missouri Coach Al Onofrio was pleased with his team's scrimmage and Kansas State Coach Ellis Rainsberger offered mixed reviews.

"Obviously we're not ready to play a football game," Moore said after the Jayhawks scrimmage Saturday. "You could see that today. I saw quite a few mistakes. And we have only two weeks to correct them."

Moore said he was unhappy with the play of both the defensive secondary and the kicking game.

"I thought our offensive units executed pretty well for a first scrimmage," Onofrio said after the Missouri scrimmage.

Missouri Quarterback Steve Pisarkiewicz, who led the Big Eight in passing last year, connected on 17 of 21 passes according to unofficial statistics kept on the scrimmage.

Mike Woodfin, a sophomore from Topeka, starred in the Kansas State scrimmage running for 90 yards on 14 carries.

"Over-all our team timing wasn't exceptionally good," Rainsberger said, "and our condition will need to improve."

Nebraska put on the pads for the first time Sunday and Coach Tom Osborne said the team was in good shape.

Cards stop Bears win streak

CHICAGO (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals were supposed to be suffering from jet lag what with their having played earlier in the week in Tokyo, but there was no indication of it as they clipped the Chicago Bears' winning streak 20-14 Saturday night.

"I didn't notice any jet lag on the Cardinals' part," said Bear Coach Jack Pardee, whose team suffered its first loss in four exhibition starts.

"If they were tired, it was from running up and down the field," said Pardee. "I was proud of the way we came back in the fourth quarter and had a chance to win the game. But those Cardinals have a heckuva offense. They gain 400 yards against everyone, ever: Oakland."

The Cardinals didn't gain 400 yards against the Bears, but they managed 336 total yards to 290 for the Bears.

Jim Otis and Steve Jones scored touchdowns for the Cardinals. Walter Payton and Tom Doncker scored touchdowns for the Bears. The difference was a pair of field goals by Jim Bakken from 24 yards and 40 yards.

Still the Bears were never out of the running and in the closing minutes they drove from their own 25-yard line down to the St. Louis 17 before Roland

Harper fumbled away their final chance.

The Cardinals showed a little more of quarterback Jim Hart and running back Terry Metcalf than they had in previous games and the two had a big hand in setting up Otis' first-period touchdown.

Hart completed five of 10 passes for 77 yards while substitute Bill Doncker completed three of seven for 33 yards. Metcalf carried six times for 55 yards while Jones did most of the rushing with 17 rushes for 67 yards.

Quarterback Bob Avellini wasn't as sharp as he had been in the Bears' previous three games and completed only five of 12 for 55 yards with two interceptions. Virgil Carter completed five of seven for 66 yards and directed the team to its second touchdown and the final drive which ended with Harper's fumble.

Brian Baschnagel, the rookie from Ohio State, returned four kickoffs for 149 yards including runbacks of 27 and 53 yards to launch both Bear touchdown drives.

St. Louis Coach Don Coryell was pleased with his team's victory but added, "The Chicago Bears are greatly improved and I'm glad because they have both Dallas and Washington on their schedule."

The Cardinals do not play the Bears in the regular season when they'll be fighting Dallas and Washington for their respective divisional title.

Discuss petition drive

BENTON — A campaign to get 1,101 signatures on petitions to form an ambulance district in Scott County will get underway shortly, the County Court decided Thursday.

J.A. Chronister of Chaffee, who appeared before the court to discuss the matter, said it is hoped the proposal can be put on the ballot for a spring election.

Should the issue pass, taxes up to 10 cents per $100 assessed valuation could be raised.

The court spent a portion of the day inspecting roads and ditches, and took particular note of a road near the farm of Jerome Schlitt, who resides northwest of Oran. The road, the court was told, is under water a good deal of the time, making it impossible for school buses to pass.

First small claim filed

BENTON — The first claim in the newly created Small Claims Court in Scott County was filed at 3 p.m. Thursday in the Scott County magistrate clerk's office. The claim, filed by Lowell Caskey of Sikeston, seeks $100 from Jerry Wallace of Vanduser as reimbursement for a check on which payment was stopped.

The hearing date for the claim has been set for 1:30 p.m. Sept. 8 in conjunction with Scott County Magistrate Court proceedings at the courthouse.

Magistrate Clerk Frankie Owens says her office has received numerous inquiries about procedures for entering claims in the new court which went into effect Aug. 13.
